Ruby Case

Switch New Trial
To Wichita Falls

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade says he again will demand the death penalty for Jack Ruby. The defense discounts Wade's chances for winning it in a new trial of the man who killed Lee Harvey Oswald.

February Start Likely
These viewpoints were voiced after Wichita Falls was designated Tuesday as the site of a second trial, possibly in February, as ordered by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Defense counsel pointed out that the appellate court specifically barred the admissibility of testimony by a policeman, heard earlier, which indicated premeditation by Ruby to shoot the accused presidential assassin.

Ruby's lawyers said elimination of that evidence brightened their prospects for a murder-without-malice verdict, which does not carry the death sentence.

Wade said "we have five or six new witnesses we are going to use." He gave no details. Dist. Judge Louis T. Holland announced selection of Wichita Falls, a city of about 115,000 persons, after a conference with defense and prosecution attorneys. Wichita Falls is 140 miles northwest of Dallas.

Accessible to All
"It is accessible to all witnesses, has ample facilities, and is made up of a multitude of good, fair, honest people," the judge said.

Although Holland set no exact date for the trial, he said the case would be heard in early 1967, possibly February. Ruby, 35, is a former Dallas nightclub operator who shot Oswald before a national television audience just two days after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The Warren Commission said Oswald, alone and with no conspirators, conceived and carried out the Kennedy slaying.

Will Hear Duration
Holland was appointed presiding judge when Ruby's trial Judge Joe B. Brown voluntarily stepped out during the appeal. Exchanging seats with the judge of the 30th District Court in Wichita County, Holland said he would hear the duration of Ruby's second trial.

Name Kingstonian to Head
National Church Council

A Kingston native who has achieved national prominence in government and education has been named president of the National Council of Churches.

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the University of Oregon and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower administration, was elected to the high church post at the General Assembly in Miami Beach, Fla.

Headed Panel

Long active in national church affairs, Dr. Flemming as first vice president of the national council headed the panel which drafted the organization's stand on Vietnam. The assembly, deliberating the proposed policy statement, will be addressed to-night by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

An interdenominational study report is being considered concerning changes in the traditional parish life structure. It is felt that the present congregational structure should be altered to comply with changing community patterns. Dr. Flemming, son of the late Surgeon General and Mrs. Harry H. Flemming, has been active for many years in the Methodist Church and was a member of Trinity Methodist Church, this city. He previously served as a vice president representing the division of Christian life and work.

Tests Disclose
Color of Vehicle

State police throughout the area today concentrated a search for an aquamarine colored car and its owner as investigation of a fatal hit-and-run accident was pressed by Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers.

Victim of the mishap, which occurred before noon on Monday on Milton Turnpike, Town of Plattekill, was Miss Gloria Roberts, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Roberts, Jansen Road, New Paltz.

$25 Reward Offered
Town of Plattekill Supervisor Joseph Martorana has offered a $25 cash reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the motorist, who reportedly sped away after hitting the girl as she walked along the turnpike toward the home of a friend.

Anyone having any information as to the identity of the car or its owner is asked to immediately notify Kingston State Police or Highland troopers at their stations or the Town of Plattekill Police.

Reports on Analysis
State Police Sergeant Edward Whalen of Highland made known today that analysis of paint found on the girl's clothing had been made at the State Police laboratory, and tests disclosed the paint was aquamarine (green-blue in hue) or light blue similar to robin egg blue, or lighter.

Common in GM Cars
Sergeant Whalen said the paint is commonly used at General Motors Corp. factories, on Buick, Pontiac or Chevrolet 1962 model cars. He noted that it is possible that similar paint can be purchased locally and used on older or later model motor vehicles.

AWAITING OPENING OF EDSON SCHOOL
Administrators of schools in the Kingston School District (Consolidated) are preparing for assignment of pupils to classrooms in the new Edson Elementary School on Merilina Avenue, which is shown above. The 27-classroom school will be ready for occupancy later this month, according to present plans. Features of the new building include a spacious gymnasium and separate cafeteria area with stage. Harry Halverson of 239 Fair Street is the architect. The grounds immediately surrounding the new school have been attractively landscaped. School officials had planned to take over the building later this week, but the school will not be ready for occupancy until the latter part of December. The approximate cost of the Edson School is $1,238,000. The general contractor is William E. Forrest Inc., of Poughkeepsie. (Freeman photo by Krush)

Ready Tax Bill
For Senior Group

Kingston, after reapportionment, stands to continue with 13 wards but with changes in voting districts, it was learned Tuesday night.

Due for action at a recessed Common Council meeting rather than at last night's regular session, the problem has been under intensive study by a special Common Council committee headed by Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward.

See Major Changes
Major changes are planned for the heavily populated Second and 12th wards, and downtown's Sixth Ward, because of low population within present boundaries is to be generally included in the Fifth Ward. Changes are planned for districts in other wards as they are now mapped.

Other members of the special committee are: Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig and Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward; Clifford Sinsbaugh (D) Fifth Ward; Robert C. Schantz (D) Second Ward; George Marcolis (R) First Ward; and John Machione (R) 12th Ward. The committee is due to meet again tonight.

Action at last night's meeting included introduction of a local law authorizing a 50 per cent tax cut for local senior citizens of meager income, and a health insurance plan for city employees based on the state system. A revenue anticipation note for $280,000 to cover operation of city departments pending final collection of 1967 taxes was approved and three claims totaling $95,000 were referred to Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy.

Must Qualify
The local law dealing with a tax cut for senior citizens provides that taxpayers of the age 65 and over with annual incomes of not more than $3,000 should be entitled to a 50 per cent tax reduction.

A resolution dealing with proposed adoption of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Major Metropolitan Life health plans for city employees so that provision can be made in the 1967 budget, was left in committee and could be dealt with at the recessed meeting.

Space Link

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A sparkling new "public benefactor" satellite raced toward a lofty Pacific outpost today, aiming to test advanced techniques for space communications and weather forecasting.

Among the satellite's goals are the first continuous weather pictures over one area of the globe, color television transmission between the United States and the Far East, and the evaluation of a space communications system for commercial and military aircraft.

Performs Perfectly
The 1,547-pound payload, called ATS for Applications Technology Satellite, bolted away Tuesday night from Cape Kennedy atop an Atlas-Agena rocket.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the rocket performed perfectly and drilled ATS into an initial transfer orbit ranging from 115 to 22,749 miles above the earth. "So far it looks beautiful," a NASA official reported.

Today, a kick motor was to fire and place ATS in a so-called synchronous orbit 22,300 miles (Continued on Page 34, Col. 8)

Pledges to Expose
Pearl Harbor Mess

From state capitals to college campuses, in churches, and on highways, millions of Americans remembered Pearl Harbor today on the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack that brought the United States into World War II. Some of the observances took note of the Vietnam war.

Blamed for Defeat
For some individuals, such as Hustand E. Kimmel, the 84-year-old retired admiral who says he was blamed for America's worst naval defeat, the remembrance of Dec. 7, 1941, stirred up bitter memories.

That day a quarter of a century ago also left some footnotes to history, on the evening of the Pearl Harbor attack, Eleanor Roosevelt calmly scrambled eggs for guests at the White House, according to a journal among the manuscripts the Library of Congress in Washington put on exhibit to commemorate the 25th anniversary.

Hundreds of men who knew the horror of that December 7, date which President Franklin D. Roosevelt said "will live in infamy," gathered in Pearl Harbor for the main commemorative ceremonies.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York ordered flags on all state buildings lowered to half staff this morning, then raised to full at noon "to remind us that we will always, with the grace of God, achieve final victory."

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two youthful gunmen assassinated a leading South Vietnamese politician in Saigon today, and police announced that one of the assassins confessed he was a Viet Cong terrorist.

The gunmen, firing at close range from a motorcycle, killed 58-year-old Tran Van Van as he rode in his car to his office.

A short time later, one of the pair was seized when he fell off the motorcycle near the residence of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. The other assassin escaped.

Direct Council Committee
To Warn Cablevision Firm

A Common Council committee was directed Tuesday night to arrange to serve notice "under advice" of Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy, to Kingston Cablevision Inc., Jansen Avenue, that unless it satisfactorily improved service and complied with contract terms, the council would "take necessary action to solve the problem."

Alderman Edward Norton, chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee, which had been named to deal with faulty reception and other complaints, indicated that after investigation, complaints persist. He felt that a 30-day limit should be set for improving service, and if it is not done, the franchise should be in jeopardy.

Other complaints came from Majority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, John J. Naccarato (R) Third Ward, and Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward.

Alderman John Machione (R) 12th Ward, felt that a decision "in writing" should come from Corporation Counsel Murphy and that if he found franchise violations there should be prosecution. He wondered why there has been no prosecution, to date. Other aldermen felt it was up to the council to act.

Norton said he had visited 96 homes in dealing with the complaints. He had been told, at one point, he said, that management would do all possible in 30

No Apology: Haver
Answer to Resnick

Following is a statement and letter issued today by Attorney N. LeVan Haver in reply to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's challenge and apology demand which appeared in Tuesday's Freeman:

"Running true to form, Congressman Resnick has released to various news media the contents of a letter he says he addressed to me. I have not, as of 9 a. m., Wednesday, December 7th received the letter. Perhaps Congressman Resnick or one of his staff, after releasing the letter to the press and radio, dropped it in the waste basket where it properly belongs. The Congressman has resorted to a device employed by unprincipled individuals who want their version to receive full publicity, without any possibility of a reply being carried at the same time their distorted statement is receiving maximum coverage.

Notes Solon's Payroll
"At the outset, let me say that I do not have at my disposal, a staff of public relations hirelings who are on the public payroll. It is a well-known fact that the Congressman has on his payroll, at public expense, three individuals whose salaries total almost $50,000. The Congressional payroll records of our flamboyant Congressman show that one Daniel Rohr, formerly of Ellenville, and his wife, Florence Rohr, received aggregate salaries in excess of $38,000 per year and John Logan also received in excess of $10,000 a year. These are only three of his top-heavy staff all paid out of the public treasury and many of whom devote a large part of their time in preparing the Congressman's (Continued on Page 34, Col. 4)

Orange Records
72nd Road Death,
Newburgh Youth
An 18-year-old Orange County youth was killed and two others were injured at 8 p. m. Tuesday, when the 1959 convertible car in which they were riding went out of control and hit two trees off Grand Avenue, Town of Newburgh.

State Police said the car was owned and operated by Perry Bordeaux, of 219 North Miller Street, Newburgh. He died of multiple injuries.

Two Others Hurt
Orange County Coroner Harvey Agnew gave a finding of accidental death. Injured in the mishap, which increased Orange County's highway death toll for 1966 to 72, were Bernard Maisie, 16, of 1 Garner Street, who suffered internal injuries, and another passenger in the vehicle, Leroy Walker, 19, of 128 First Street, both of Newburgh, who received scalp lacerations. They were taken to St. Luke's Hospital.

Majestic Says College May Have 4 Different Architects

Supervisor George Majestic, Town of Gardiner, today called for current debate over an architect for Ulster Community College to be "lawfully resolved to the satisfaction of all concerned prior to voting on a bond issue."

"It is entirely possible that we may have one or two or three or even four architects hired for the so-called Phase II of the Ulster County Community College," Majestic said.

Majestic also blasted Resolution 225 adopted by the board at its Nov. 17 meeting. The resolution withdrew power from the college board of trustees to choose an architect. Majestic called it "the darkest hour in (Continued on Page 34, Col. 6) the history of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors."

The college trustees had previously been granted permission by the supervisors to choose an architect. The main stipulation was that the trustees should try to select an architect from Ulster County if possible.

Majestic claims that the board of supervisors gave up all rights to choose an architect when they delegated the authority to the college board of trustees. He also said that the board of supervisors was under an obligation to support any choice of architect by the college board.

The architects involved in Phase II, according to Majestic (Continued on Page 34, Col. 6)

Of 110-Minute Sneak Attack by Nippon Pilots

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — More than a generation has passed, but tiny droplets of oil still filter to the surface of the water, bursting into a kaleidoscope of color above the sunken battleship Arizona.

Twenty-five years later, the memory of Dec. 7, 1941, lingers, a recollection of horror, of disbelief.

2,409 Died

The men who died that day, 2,409 of them, now are names on the walls of a gleaming white memorial.

The memorial, inside Pearl Harbor, straddles the sunken battleship from which the oil still seeps and aboard which remain the bodies of 1,102 officers and men of the U.S. Navy. Gene Lindsey of Jefferson City, Mo., president of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, has led an unprecedented number of survivors to Hawaii for the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack. Lindsey was a signalman aboard the destroyer Chew, moored about 500 yards from famed Battleship Row when the first bombs fell.

"Everything happened all of a sudden," he recalled. "When the Arizona was hit, she just exploded."

Magazine Hit

A bomb set off the battleship's forward ammunition magazine. A "one-in-a-million" bomb went down her stack. She was hit by torpedoes. More bombs dropped on her decks and flames shot hundreds of feet into the air.

Throughout that day, Pearl Harbor's waters — now so tranquil, so serene — were aflame with burning oil, with men struggling toward the shores of Ford Island.

In the 110 minutes the Japanese attack lasted, the U.S. Navy lost more men than it lost in the Spanish-American War, World War I, and Korea, combined.

It plunged the United States into World War II.

It was a lesson of unpreparedness, and something that military men say will not happen again. Today, few ships are seen in the harbor. They come, they go. But there is never the assembly of warships like the fleet that was riding at anchor 25 years ago.

18 Vessels Sunk
On that day, 18 vessels were sunk or seriously damaged. Nine of the 18 were the battleships Arizona, California, Maryland, Nevada, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Utah, Tennessee and West Virginia. The Utah, like the Arizona, went down with part of her crew trapped aboard. She remains a tomb for 58 men.

Most of the people who were there, or who lived in nearby Honolulu, say today it took them some time to realize that that Sunday morning attack was real.

Martin Vitousek, an associate geophysicist at the University of Hawaii, was with his father in a light plane when the Japanese bombers and torpedo planes dived down over the Waianae mountain range and sped across the harbor.

Vitousek recalls shouting to his father, "Look! P40s." He was identifying the planes as U.S. fighters.

Port Jervis Was Testing Area for TV Commercials

RADNOR, Pa. (AP)—A television consumer magazine says about 2,500 families in Port Jervis, N.Y., were unwitting research subjects for television commercials for more than two years.

In a copyrighted report, TV Guide said in its current issue that the community antenna television system in Port Jervis had been rewired to allow special commercials to be inserted in place of regular commercials.

Half of the community's 9,500 residents would receive the regular commercial, the other half would get a special commercial. The special commercial also could be shown to the entire area.

Polls would be taken to judge the effectiveness of the two commercials, the magazine said.

Sponsors of the products were informed and approved the test, the magazine said. The networks were unaware of the project, the article said. Persons in the test area also were unaware that they were taking part in testing the effectiveness of commercials.

The community antenna system employs a large tower that picks up signals and transmits them to subscribers via a cable. The only source of good TV signals from New York City—about 65 miles from Port Jervis—is the CATV system.

Scientists figure that fewer than two per cent of the atoms present in a human body were there the previous year.

Catalogues of 1915 Offer Low Prices, 'High Fashion'

By JEAN F. DOLAN
Freeman Staff Writer

Christmas shoppers of 51 years ago could pick up a dandy watch for $6 or a 12-gauge shotgun for $8.49.

And for the holiday season, a lady could choose a high fashion, fur trimmed, all wool suit for $9.85 and a truly chic chapeau for 98 cents. Her escort could look equally dapper in a pure wool worsted suit for just $7.45. (Sorry the $6.95 model was all sold out.)

These bargains of yesteryear came to light when the new Sears, Roebuck and Company opened to holiday shoppers in the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

Two Ulster County residents who saved Sears catalogues from 1915 sent them along to Robert March, manager of the Kingston store, to let him know the firm was no stranger to area residents.

Choose Colonial Facade

Incidentally, the colonial facade was chosen for the local modern store so that it would be in keeping with the historically rich community. All other recent Sears stores have modern exteriors.

Lloyd A. Taylor of Route 1, Box 5, Stone Ridge submitted The Bargain Bulletin No. 150 which details a list of really good buys in everything from underwear to kitchen ranges. A 100-piece white and gold dinner set could be had to serve the company meal at "less than five cents a dish."

To fill the groaning board, coal and wood burning cook stoves could be had for as little as $21.50 with top models going for as high as $35.80. Not only were they used for cooking and baking but served to heat water as well.

Mother could keep an eye on the roasting turkey and mince pies by way of the see-through oven door.

Heating Bargains

An item featured in the current Sears catalogue of holiday sales would make the old timers smile, I am sure. Franklin fireplaces "for a decorator touch" are offered at the sale price of $89.95. In grandpa's day, an ornate coal burning heater could be had for as high as $38.50 supplying cozy warmth for the parlor on snowy winter nights. A complete furnace to heat the whole house was available for as little as $30.

Home builders of the early 1900's could have their choice of a full range of "modern" plumbing and heating systems. Bathtub purchasers were told that Sears did not sell grade B or chipped enamel ware and this should be kept in mind when comparing prices. A six-foot cast iron white enameled bathtub with claw feet could be purchased for $24.50. Those seeking an even more modern decor could find a six-foot tub with base for just $43.90.

Modern plumbing for the country home was made available through Sears with complete detailed instruction for construction of septic tank and filter bed.

Cost Less Than A Team

The sales approach reminded the farmer that he had sulky plows and riding cultivators to make his farm work easier. But what had he done to help wife or mother. Did they have running water with which to do dishes and wash the milk cans? Did they have the convenience of an inside bathroom (which was referred to as a sanitary closet), "making it unnecessary for you or your family to go out of doors during the cold winter weather?" He was advised that such modern conveniences "will cost you less than a good team of horses."

The modern home owner will be shocked to learn that in 1915, a two-bedroom house with kitchen, dining room, living room and bath plus front porch could be built with materials, including medicine chest, costing $785. All building materials were furnished by Sears for this price. The builder had to supply cement, brick plaster and labor. They estimate the overall cost at $1,750. A 20-room apartment building required materials costing $2,112.

Stock Housing Provided

Even hogs could live in luxury with a $220 house from Sears. Materials would provide for a large "hog house" with indoor and outdoor pens. Chickens could be housed for a mere $78 worth of material in a dry, sunlit building. Other farm buildings offered included a machinery and tool house for $138 and a milk house for $101.

Once you got the various buildings constructed they even offer a movable real estate office for $105 so you can set up shop and sell the whole works.

To aid in the construction,

Early Sears, Roebuck and Company catalogues were saved by Ulster County residents who shopped by mail and were brought to light when the modern new Sears store opened in the Kingston Shopping Plaza. house paints were listed at $1.03 a gallon by the 50-gallon barrel. Pipe cutters could be had for 84 cents.

The catalogues on building supplies, plumbing, heating and paints were sent to the local store by Mrs. Crosswell Sheeley of Cottekill still in the original mailing envelope addressed to Robert J. Service of 83 Maiden Lane, Kingston with a Nov. 27, 1915 post mark.

Although it is nice to reminisce about the low cost of living in the "good old days" it should be remembered that wages were much less than $25 a week for most and many farm families saw little cash during the course of a year. So relatively speaking we are probably doing just as well if not better in the electronic age of today.

Fumes Are Fatal To Man, His 2 Children Critical

HAMBURG, N.Y. (AP) — A 46-year-old father is dead and his two children in critical condition from carbon monoxide fumes that seeped into their home.

Police found Tuesday the body of Frank Kusmierz of Hamburg, a widower, and his children, Kathleen, 13, and Michael, 9, in upstairs bedrooms. The youths were taken to Our Lady of Victory Hospital in nearby Lackawanna.

Authorities said a small truck was found with its motor running in a garage attached to the house. The fumes seeped into the house, they added.

Dr. Louis C. Mead, an Erie County medical examiner, ruled that the death of Kusmierz was accidental.

Police were called when a neighbor noticed that the family did not appear outside their house during the day.

PERRINE'S BRIDGE

Covered bridges were once plentiful and consequently received little attention. They did protect the roadway from the elements, however, and were quite popular as lovers' lanes.

Now covered bridges, interesting relics of the past, are scarce and therefore they attract public notice. Activity continues here on the part of local groups to salvage, save and restore old Perrine's Bridge at Rifton. The bridge, one of the few remaining covered spans in New York State, has been under discussion locally, in Albany and in Washington for some time. The bridge, 116 years old, is generally conceded to be the oldest existing covered bridge in the state. It has become a tourist attraction and its picture has appeared on numerous publicity folders, in magazines and newspapers.

Ulster County is steeped in historicity and the bridge is of deep concern to those residents who are interested in the preservation of old landmarks, which give the locale its historic atmosphere.

Mrs. Adam H. Porter of 134 St. James Street calls our attention to the book, "Covered Bridges of the Northeast" by Richard Sanders Allen, national authority on the subject, who writes as follows:

Perrine's Bridge near Rifton is Ulster County's best known bridge, and it is probably seen more often than any other covered bridge in the state. It spans the Wall Kill adjacent to the New York State Thruway. It is surprising how many people spot this covered bridge and remember it, even though it can be glimpsed for only a brief moment by travelers in the north-bound lanes. Built in 1850, Perrine's Bridge is the only sizable example of the Burr arch truss still standing in this state where it was invented.

Restoration of the bridge will mean that in the years to come there will be a memorial to yesteryear when a nation used horse power and iron-rimmed wheels.

The bridge's chief enemy in recent years has been the weather and covered bridge purists, who know that no newly constructed bridge can have the genuine flavor of one a century old, are groaning.

Ulster County and other sections of the state as well would be long-sighted if they took count on their covered bridges and provided for their preservation.

MILLION-POUND THRUST

The thunderously successful static firing test of the nation's greatest liquid hydrogen booster provided another indication of what a momentous undertaking it is to place a manned vehicle on the moon. This is the central element in the rocket that will do the job — by 1970, if all goes as planned. The complete Saturn V will be a monster, a block long and correspondingly powerful.

For six minutes, on this occasion, the booster trembled with the force of its million-pound thrust. Reporters were told that it generated about 21 million horsepower, as much as some 90,000 automobiles and enough, as Dr. Wernher von Braun noted, to lift 50 of the Gemini capsules into orbit. This enormous power will be needed to boost the 47-ton, three-man Apollo on its way to the moon. The recent test firing takes us another important step toward launching day.

AUTO SAFETY STANDARDS

There appear to be no very startling innovations in the list of auto safety requirements just issued by the National Traffic Safety Agency. It is possible that many, perhaps all, of these features would have been incorporated in standard models in time even without government prodding. Over the past half century, many safety devices have been added as the automobile developed.

The crucial difference is that the new federal legislation speeds up this vital process. Without it, the 1968 models might or might not carry all the features proposed; this would be up to individual manufacturers. As it is, once the National Traffic

SOME UNSOLICITED ADVICE TO ROMNEY

Nobody asked me, but if I were giving Presidential sweepstakes advice to George Romney of Michigan I would warn him against tying himself too closely to the so-called "liberal East" in this matter of getting ready for the 1968 convention.

To be sure, the liberal Republicans did rather well for themselves at the polls in November. With Governor Nelson Rockefeller re-elected in New York, with Shafer succeeding Scrantom in Pennsylvania, and with Romney winning big in Michigan, the liberals grabbed off the top jobs in three important electoral vote states. And with Charles Percy defeating Paul Douglas in the Illinois senatorial race, the liberals are in a good position in another important part of the Middle West.

But there are gradations in so-called "liberalism." At one end of the spectrum we have Nelson Rockefeller and Senator Jack Javits, with a liberalism attuned to special New York conditions. Shafer, the new governor of Pennsylvania, is much less doctrinaire in his liberalism than either of the New Yorkers, and Chuck Percy, in Illinois, has some definitely conservative characteristics. As for Romney himself, I would call him a true believer in the American competitive economic system and a true Madisonian when it comes to wishing to preserve the importance of the states in the federal system.

In short, we have various political animals roaming the Republican woods as we move from the East Coast to the West. Romney and Percy, who have been mentioned as Presidential possibilities, are very much alike in their flavor as personalities. But I would like to make a small bet that if Romney lets the world think of him as the "eastern" Republican Presidential candidate, it will set the stage for the emergence of Percy as a compromise choice who would be far more acceptable to Republicans in the Far West, the Middle West, and the South when it comes to capturing the nomination.

The point is that Governor Reagan, in California, could be the kingmaker. With conservative Republicans in the state houses of Arizona and Nevada, and with moderates who think like westerners in control of such states as Washington and Oregon, the "blend" would favor a compromise on whatever Mid-Westerner seems to be the most independent of eastern seaboard influences. So it could be Percy if Romney listens overlong to the eastern sirens. Governor Rhodes of Ohio could play a role in the decision.

Then there is always Dick Nixon. He has been running behind Romney in the popularity polls, but it is natural at this stage of the game. Nixon is definitely on record on most any political topic that comes up for discussion. He has hard-and-fast views on Vietnam and on the Johnson economic policies. Romney, on the other hand, hasn't had to speak up on a whole host of potentially divisive national issues. When he does speak he will make enemies, and later polls could easily draw him back toward Nixon on the Gallupometer.

The fact that Nixon ran ahead of Romney in the mail poll sent out by the Washington magazine Human Events to the delegates and electors to the 1964 Republican National Convention could have real significance. For in many of the Far Western, Middle Western and Southern states conservative Republicans still dominate the party machinery. These conservatives still resent the attitude that Romney took toward Goldwater in 1964. But they would resent Romney less if he were to offer them an olive branch. Hobnobbing with Nelson Rockefeller is hardly the way for Romney to mend fences in the West, the South, and even in spots in his own Middle West.

In his now famous letter to Goldwater, Romney was careful to point out that he was not implicated in using the social security or the bomb issue against the Republican 1964 nominee. The letter was, on the whole, quite dignified. Rightly interpreted, it could be used as an opening toward peace between the two men. But not, repeat not, if Romney lets himself be used by Republicans who want to fight the 1964 fight all over again. (Copyright, 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Polyps Common in Those Who Use Voice Frequently

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

That the President of the United States should be plagued with hoarseness is not surprising, as this is common among orators, singers, preachers and all who must speak or sing a lot in public. Since there are several causes, anyone whose hoarseness does not clear up in two weeks should have a careful examination of his vocal cords. In a recent study of 1,000 cases of hoarseness the most frequent cause was polyps, a small grape-like growth attached to one or both of the cords. This was the diagnosis made in the case of President Johnson.

Persons with these polyps are usually past 40 and heavy smokers. Their hoarseness usually grows worse as the day goes on. Drinking alcohol also makes it worse. The lesions are benign and if, when they have just started, the voice is rested and the use of alcohol and tobacco is discontinued, they may disappear spontaneously. When they become chronic, surgical removal is the only effective treatment.

The second most common cause is cancer of the larynx. That is why all persons with persistent hoarseness should be examined by a throat specialist. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by surgery or X-ray before the disease spreads to other parts of the body is the only way this disease can be cured.

Chronic laryngitis is the third most common cause of hoarseness and is caused by shouting, postnasal drip, smoking and exposure to dust-laden or highly polluted atmosphere. Removal of these causes is the only treatment that produces satisfactory results.

Q—If electric shock can damage the nervous system as you said in your column, why is it given in the hospital for nervous disease?
A—It is a matter of quantity. The amount of current used in electroconvulsive shock treatments is small compared to the amount that would injure the nervous system. Furthermore, it is carefully controlled in the hospital. This is only one example in which a little of something is good but a lot is not necessarily better.

Q—My doctor says I have hardening of the arteries in the back of my eyes. Is there anything I can do to improve my failing vision?

A—There is no cure for hardening of the arteries in the retina. Prevention consists of the early treatment of high blood pressure and eating a diet low in saturated fatty acids.

The Federal Aviation Safety Agency has taken note of manufacturers' comments the final standards will be published and the auto makers will be required to meet them.

This is neither unprecedented nor unfair. The government has for many years required train and aircraft manufacturers to meet certain safety standards. Congress has been laggard about applying the same criterion to automobiles, even though far more people travel in automobiles than in planes or trains. Now Congress has started to catch up, finally recognizing its responsibility to improve safety conditions on the highways. The standards just announced are among the first fruits of the action Congress has taken. Things are looking up for the motorist—a category in which virtually all Americans are included at one time or another.

"We're Just Observing!"

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There will, of course, be no new full-scale inquiry into the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

The Congress, though it will install dozens of new members in January, is not about to try second-guessing a Warren Commission whose roster included two respected senators and two leading House members.

President Johnson hardly would know where to turn to find an investigating body more prestigious than the one he named in 1963 to work under Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Moreover, as many thoughtful responses to the commission's critics have made abundantly plain, no evidence has been unearthed since release of the commission findings which would justify a major review.

For all the critical books, articles and French television shows, no one has established—or even begun to demonstrate—that any shot was fired at the late President from any place but the 6th floor of the Texas School Book Depository.

Nor have the critics linked any person other than the slain Lee Harvey Oswald to the crime.

What they reply upon for the most part, are the impressions and observations of many people at or near the death site who believe they heard more shots than the three the commission says were probably fired, that shots came from amid trees atop a grassy knoll to the right and somewhat forward of Kennedy's car, that the "knoll gunman" escaped.

Since these impressions are without the support of even an iota of tangible evidence, the "witnesses" could as well have dressed it all. They have no gun, no gun, no bullets, and no wound which, demonstrably, could have been inflicted upon Kennedy from the direction they consider the crucial one.

Aside from their persistence in relying upon the unreliable, the critics have founded their "case" upon the inevitable errors (long since corrected) of men operating under great stress at assassination time—including the autopsy doctors and FBI agents.

The critics have tried to elevate a miasma of impressions collected at a chaotic moment into graven truth. They have hugged misinformation to their bosoms long after the record has been set right. Error has been read as conspiracy.

The French, ahead of all others, have indulged their taste for conspiracy. In the process of endlessly reworking the case, they have offered much truth about themselves and none about the crime.

This clinging to the plot theory, both at home and abroad, produces its paradoxes.

It is a rejection of the mindless behavior of a rebel Oswald, in an age when we are engulfed constantly by mindless violence.

In attempts to dismiss coincidences of human behavior and timing, when coincidences swarm upon us all again and again.

No inquiry, however exhaustive and repetitive, could resolve all doubts surrounding a crime so diffuse in nature as this murder, done by rifle fired at long distance in a crowded public place. It will never be known, for instance, what happened to the third of three bullets fired by Oswald. Nor, for sure, which shot went wild.

But doubts do not make opposing truth — unless they are very big. In this case, the weight of established evidence suggests they are not. It suggests instead that, until Jack Ruby killed Oswald, we had the man who owned and fired the gun whose bullets struck and fell near John F. Kennedy and the wounded Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Until some new, genuine evidence suggests otherwise, the commission's judgment will stand. Meantime, the unrealistic will demand over and over an end to doubt that can have no end. And lovers of plot will spin their unsupported theories and call them better than the oddly improbable but true coincidences of life.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The greatest game of solitaire is reading. When one finds a writer who opens new avenues of thought, the joy is almost too much to bear. Last week, I began to explore the mind of Thomas Merton. Twenty years ago, this bright young man "forsook the world" and fled himself away in a cell of silence at the Trappist Monastery of Our Lady of Gethsemani in Kentucky.

He has written 29 books, including "The Seven Storey Mountain." The newest one, "Conjectures of a Guilty Bystander," is a series of fragmented meditations. The reader might expect adroit religious propaganda, but the monk has a fervent affection for all religious groups, and he knows how to rationalize it.

"One has either got to be a Jew or stop reading the bible," he writes. "The bible cannot make sense to anyone who is not 'spiritually a Semite.' The spiritual sense of the Old Testament is not and cannot be a simple emptying out of its Israelite content. Quite the contrary!"

The New Testament is the fulfillment of that spiritual content, the fulfillment of the promise made to Abraham, the promise that Abraham believed in. It is never therefore a denial of Judaism, but its affirmation. Those who consider it a denial have not understood it."

Often, Father Merton makes his point by quoting from a Protestant sermon. He finds beauty and sublime thought everywhere—in the early thrill of birds before dawn asking God if it is time to "be." He finds it also in old French writers, and forgotten monks whose headstones stand like occluded teeth in a garden cemetery.

"I write this in the woodshed," he says, "surrounded by the charred, sweet-smelling wood of smashed-up whiskey barrels: not ours, naturally. Kegs given to the monks to break up for firewood."

As I listen to this man, paragraph by paragraph, page by page, he speaks with charm and force. In one place, almost skipped by a hunting eye, he relates briefly the story of a man who must have led an almost sinless life and who, on his deathbed, realized that he had committed the greatest sin of all—he had tried to make everyone live like him.

'Ancient History' Projects U Thant Into New Dilemma

By David Lawrence

LAWRENCE H. D... WASHINGTON — U Thant, Secretary General of the United Nations—Who had said he would not serve again, changed his mind and was then reelected for a five-year term—has projected himself into a new dilemma.

After having laid down as a condition for his continuance in office that he be given discretionary power to act as an intermediary in negotiating peace problems, the secretary general suddenly pulled out of the air something that happened in 1964 and 1965 as evidence that the United States government refused to participate in peace talks with the Vietnamese Communists, who, he says, were willing to do so.

Just what motivated U Thant to bring up "ancient history" is not known, but it looks as if he is endeavoring to prove that the U. S. government has had some ulterior motive in prolonging the war in Viet Nam. The episode is given new emphasis this week by an interview in Newsweek magazine with the secretary general. He claims that he was able to arrange through the Soviet government that the United States and North Viet Nam meet in 1964 on the ambassadorial level. But after a second effort in January 1965, there was a 10-day period of silence, and U Thant says the United States government finally rejected the proposal.

The State Department, on the other hand, on Monday referred newsmen to its transcript of a press conference Nov. 15, 1965, when questions were asked about the same incidents. It was stated then that there had been numerous third-party contacts trying to arrange meetings. The State Department declares:

"On the basis of the total evidence to us, we did not believe at any time that North Viet Nam was prepared for serious peace talks. We hear all kinds of things through direct, sometimes indirect, contacts in various parts of the world that the other side is interested, but we have not seen any evidence of that."

What is more important is the attitude of U Thant himself. The American government recently gave full support to his continuance as Secretary General, and officials here have a high regard for him. They intimate, however, that he really doesn't understand the United States and still clings to notions which he, as a native of Burma, has always had about the attitude of the larger powers—namely, that they have some selfish purpose and are not capable of altruism.

The United States government, of course, has a duty not only to the men in its own fighting forces but to the American people as a whole and also to its allies. Hence, it cannot allow itself to become entrapped in a futile negotiation or a halt of the bombing. The interval could merely be used by the Viet Cong and the North Viet Nam Communists to build up their forces for a resumption of the fighting.

From time to time, U Thant has expressed himself on the Viet Nam situation and has manifestly disapproved of American policy in Southeast Asia. But as long as these were expressions of a personal belief, they were not taken seriously here. Since U Thant, however, has embarked upon a broader course and has maneuvered the United Nations into giving him wider powers of negotiation, a note of concern is creeping into the conversations of United States officials.

Certainly some kind of explanation from U Thant now becomes necessary if the government here is to participate in any future moves for peace conferences arranged by him through the United Nations.

President Johnson has throughout the year 1966 stated a willingness to negotiate, but not a single offer has come back from the North Vietnamese for a peace conference. Hence, the idea that the United States missed the boat back in 1964 or 1965 is hardly realistic.

Despite the numerous talks United States government officials have had with U Thant over the course of the last two years, not a single concrete proposal has developed which gave the slightest reason for believing that there could be a peace conference. Indeed, Washington officials said this week that, if Hanoi really wanted to talk peace, it is strange that those talks could have only been held at a single given place at a single given time — and never anywhere else or at any other time. (Copyright, 1966, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate).

what is simply normal and human," Merton writes, "than to try to act like an angel when God does not will it... It is not practical, it is not honest, it is not Christian... to fly from every desire and every pleasure that is not explicitly pious."

Two of the noblest sentences, to my way of thinking, are these: "How much sin is kept hidden from us by God Himself, in His mercy? After which He hides it from Himself."

I go out on no long limb for Thomas Merton. He is not the world's greatest writer. In truth, the flesh of his writing is weaker than the sinews of thought underneath. He often uses Mohandas Gandhi and Karl Marx as mental trampolines. He says some kind things about them.

One from Gandhi is aimed at our young men: "To refuse military service when the time has come for it to be necessary, is to act after the time to combat the evil has run out."

Sometimes, Merton's sense of humor pops to his pen: "Every time Kennedy sneezes or blows his nose an article is read about it in the refectory." "On my 46th birthday, they put an ape into space."

"American Catholics pray, no doubt sincerely, for the conversion of Russia. Is this simply a desire that the Russians will stop menacing us, will stop being different from us, will stop challenging us, will stop trying to get ahead of us? This is a dream and not a very good one. It would indeed harm us greatly if all the rest of the world suddenly enclosed itself within our own limitations. Who would then challenge and complete us?"

"Until we recognize the right of other nations, races and societies to be different from us and to stay different, to have different ideas and to open up

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

The following are from the memories of George D. Garrison, who was several months away from being 90 in February 1950. He lived with his son F. Leslie Garrison at 154 Fair Street. The some 16 years ago that I used part of this manuscript and it appeared in The Freeman on March 6, 1950, Mr. Garrison never enjoyed seeing it, as he died the day before, March 5, 1950, but his words live on in print.

He goes back to his early youth, when you shopped in a store there were no paper bags. They packaged 10 pounds of sugar and thus you bought it. I remember sugar and also salt in cloth bags, and these bags were later used for other purposes, not so many years ago. He told how the clerk would lay on the counter a large sheet of brown paper and on top of that, a sheet of white paper and wrap it up together. The brown paper being very tender, and it was a partial protection to the white paper. You could not buy a pint of molasses unless it was drawn from the original package. A gallon of kerosene the same way. Kerosene came in 50-gallon barrels dumped at the depot and carted to the store. All the empty oil barrels were returned free. When the local railroad was running a regular freight train, you could get a keg of nails from Kingston to Shandaken for ten cents, a barrel of flour for 25 cents.

Mr. Garrison wrote how he used to come to Kingston right after it was incorporation with Rondout 1872 as he describes the following: "So I wandered upon the hill where there were men cutting stone for the foundation of the City Hall. I remember riding on the horse cars with Jimmie Norton driving."

He also describes that it was around that time that the country folks started to take in city boarders. Anyone who had a room or two, they rented, and these same city folks would come up every year. This called for a larger house and more of everything. Every room had to be furnished, and lamps had to be provided. These had to be brought down to the kitchen every morning to be washed and filled with oil. That meant extra help which was plentiful then.

He further wrote: We had horses then but no wagon. I was old enough then to take charge of the team. It was the only horse team in the village, and of course, that made me a very hard worker, doing all kinds of jobs for everybody. In the summer I had three boarding houses to wait on, besides our farm work. Well, I lived through it and thrived, that was about 1879. I drove the team about three or four years more and then turned it over to my brother and went into carpenter work. In 1883 I got married and kept on carpentering for 30 years, 25 of these years for one man. I can count nearly 100 houses, nine-tenths of them in Kingston, which I helped build. I have been retired from active work for the last two years.

I wish I had a list of Mr. Garrison's houses, thus we would know who built them and when. That is the mystery of private homes. The deed should give you an idea of when they were built and by whom, and when additions are put on. Well, now at least we will know when all the buildings in Rondout will be torn down. Some went down March 1966, and now November 1966 more are coming down. I wonder how much they pay bricklayers today, for say laying 1,000 brick and how many brick go into a three story building like being demolished in Rondout now.

THE TWIN MEET, only in this case it's not East and West but North and South. Some visiting Eskimos in native costumes get acquainted with "Squirt" the porpoise, likewise attired, star attraction at the Miami, Fla., Seaquarium. It was really all business for the visitors, who made the trip to familiarize Floridians with the attractions of a sister but very dissimilar state—Alaska.

Razing of Canteen Site Significant For GI Millions

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — No one paid much attention to the news that the city had ordered the razing of the LeGrand Theater as an unsafe structure.

But to three million servicemen and women of World War II and scores of movie figures, the event would have significance. For the LeGrand was once the site of the Hollywood Canteen.

Offers Best

During the three years of its existence, the Canteen offered topnotch entertainment to GIs passing through Los Angeles. Some even got a chance to jiltterbug with Lana Turner or Joan Crawford.

The Canteen originated with Bette Davis and her then agent Jules Stein, founder of the giant MCA corporation. Both saw the need for Hollywood to offer a haven for servicemen like New York's famous Stage Door Canteen. The pair proposed one and drew immediate enthusiasm from the film community.

On Oct. 3, 1943, the Hollywood Canteen first opened its doors on Cahuenga Boulevard just south of Sunset Boulevard. The building had once housed a theater that was aptly named The Barn. Studios and guilds donated goods and services to decorate the place, and a refurbishing job valued at $15,000 was accomplished with a $200 outlay.

Overhead Sign

Over the front door appeared the sign: "Through These Portals Pass the Most Beautiful Uniforms in the World." Only men and women in uniform were allowed to enter that way. All others came through the rear door, and some of Hollywood's highest-paid producers and directors washed dishes for the guests.

Every night for the next three years, Hollywood entertained the nation's fighting men. They were served up hot dinners by such waitresses as Betty Grable, Jane Russell, Paulette Goddard, Ann Sheridan and a youthful Elizabeth Taylor. The boys were entertained by Bob Hope, Danny Kaye, Joe E. Brown, Dinah Shore and Betty Hutton, and they danced with starlets to the music of Kay Kyser, Harry James and Duke Ellington.

"My favorite memory was one Christmas Eve," recalls a volunteer. "Bing Crosby came to the back door with his four young sons and asked if the family could entertain. The five Crosbys sang 'White Christmas' and valedictorian carols, and there were few people in the Canteen with dry eyes."

Canteen President Bette Davis persuaded Warner Bros. to make an all-star movie, "Hollywood Canteen," and proceeds from the film made expenses no problem.

With the coming of VJ Day, the need for the Hollywood Canteen lessened, and the doors were closed on Thanksgiving night of 1945. There was still half a million dollars in the treasury, and the amount grew over the years under the stewardship of Stein, who took over from Miss Davis as president of the Hollywood Canteen Foundation this year.

The foundation has donated nearly a million dollars to service, veteran and other charities. During the Korean War, it sponsored another canteen at the old Florentine Gardens night club. So far no need has been seen for a new one to entertain soldiers of the Vietnam war.

Motorists Get Break

ST. ALBANS, W. Va. (AP) — The City Council in this southern West Virginia community of 15,000 has decided to give motorists a holiday gift.

The council voted to place hoods reading "Merry Christmas" on parking meters from Dec. 17 through the holiday period.

Survivors Mark 'Day of Infamy' At Pearl Rites

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Survivors of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor 25 years ago began gathering today for an anniversary ceremony at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific in Punchbowl Crater.

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze gives the main memorial address to 900 survivors and their families.

The ceremony was sponsored by the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, whose members have been touring the islands this week, showing their families what it was like on that Sunday in 1941.

All branches of the military and every veteran's organization were represented at the quarter-century ceremonies.

A less elaborate service was planned for sunset aboard the USS Arizona Memorial, built on the hulk of the battleship that was sunk under Japanese bombs with the loss of 1,102 lives.

A small delegation of high-ranking military officers, civilians and officials of veterans' organizations were to board the Memorial and hear Rear Adm. Henry Persons speak.

The Navy took the occasion to correct a popular misconception that the Arizona has never been decommissioned. It was decommissioned Dec. 29, 1941, and was stricken from the list of Navy battleships one year later.

The Navy said the Arizona now is in the same category as a national cemetery.

Have No Suspect In Jersey Death Of Mother, Child

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP)—Police remain without a suspect Wednesday in the stabbing of a young mother and the suffocation of her 10-month-old son. Both bodies were found in their home Monday.

The woman, Helen Furblur, 22, was found in the basement hidden behind trunks, chairs and a cardboard box. The boy, Ernest Jr., was discovered behind some luggage in a second-floor closet.

Police said Mrs. Furblur's husband, Ernest, 28, told them he last saw his wife and child Friday morning when he left for Freehold Regional High School where he teaches physical education.

Monmouth County physician C. Malcolm B. Gilman said the victims had been dead about 12 hours when they were found by police Monday night. Mrs. Furblur had been stabbed repeatedly with a sharp instrument. No weapon was found.

The child had been smothered with plastic bags.

Women's Group Score Mock Slave Auction

STONY BROOK, N.Y. (AP) — A housewives' group, composed mainly of Negroes, has complained to the State University branch here about a mock "slave auction" of co-eds, planned as a freshman fundraising drive.

In a letter received Tuesday by Dr. John S. Toll, president of the university campus, the Mothers Group of Westbury said the students were "insensitive to the horrors and cruelty of American slavery."

At the projected auction, male students who live in dormitories would bid for a few hours of housekeeping service, or for a date, with 75 co-eds who had agreed to take part.

David Sussman of Cedarhurst, president of the freshman class, and Al Shapiro, a student from Forest Hills, who organized the event, said they were "shocked" that their intention had been "drastically misunderstood."

The name of the auction was changed to "Gai Sale" and will be held as planned Friday night.

Dr. Toll said he would write a letter of apology to the women's group. The president of the group, Mrs. Eugene Garland, said its 200 members were mainly residents of New Cassel, a middle class neighborhood of Westbury. She said they organized six years ago to help solve local school problems.

Upstate Man Dies; Was in Viet Crash

NAPLES, N.Y. (AP) — Lt. Col. Roger D. Coye, 36, died today in Brooke General Hospital, Texas, of burns suffered Nov. 6 in the crash of a U.S. Army helicopter in South Viet Nam.

The crash killed seven of the 11 persons aboard.

Coye, whose parents live in this community near Geneva, and the three other survivors were flown within 48 hours to the hospital at Fort Sam Houston, near San Antonio. All were burned extensively.

It was reported the helicopter crashed because of mechanical failure.

Coye graduated from Cornell University's Agriculture College in 1952 and then entered the Army to make military life a career. He went to South Viet Nam late in the summer.

He is survived by his widow, Barbara, of Norfolk, N.Y., three children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coye; and two brothers, Dr. E.N. Coye of Lyons and Howard Coye of Rochester.

First Rose Bowl football game was played in 1902. University of Michigan beat Stanford 49-0.

Con-Ed Project Debate Is Still Centered Around Gains, Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic benefits to residents of New York City and the construction area versus possible damage to scenic values and fish life remain the center of argument over Consolidated Edison Company's plan for a hydroelectric project at Cornwall, N.Y.

The Rev. T. Hogan, S.J., a Fordham University professor of economics, testified Tuesday at a hearing before a Federal Power Commission Examiner that the proposed power plant would help the New York City economy through more stable electric rates.

In addition, Father Hogan held that the Hudson River Valley area around the site at Storm King Mountain would benefit through employment and sales of supplies during the construction period.

David Sive of New York City, counsel for the Sierra Club, a national conservation organization, estimated, however, that the saving in New York City electric rates would amount to 22 cents per family per year.

Sive also indicated that the employment and other advantages could accrue to New York City through expansion of the utility firm's operation there.

The Sierra Club is opposed to the proposed construction of the $184-million plant on the banks of the Hudson on the grounds that it would destroy scenic beauty and hurt fish life.

Psychologist Says Schenk Was Well On Day of Holdup

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A computer specialist, accused of a $25,000 bank holdup, was well enough mentally on the day of the robbery "to appreciate the wrongfulness of his actions," a psychologist contends.

Dr. A. Donald Smith was one of three doctors testifying Tuesday in the U.S. District Court trial of Werner Schenk, 34, of nearby Greece.

Bank Incident

The defendant is charged with the armed robbery of two women tellers of a Security Trust Co. branch in suburban Pittsford.

Smith also said Schenk was not in such a state of mental illness on July 29—the day of the robbery—that he was unable "to conform his actions to the requirements of law."

Smith said he tested Schenk Saturday, as was ordered by Judge Harold P. Burke.

Schenk showed no major feelings of depression nor any indication of major personality or emotional disorder, Smith said. He is not a type of person who would be likely to develop a "dissociative" reaction, multiple personalities or amnesia state," he added.

Doctors Harold Feldman and David C. MacTye, psychiatrists, agreed with Smith in their testimony.

Mind Drew Blank

In previous testimony for the defense, psychiatrists and a psychologist said Schenk knew nothing of what he was doing on July 29. Schenk also said his mind drew a partial blank on that day as a result of tension built up over several weeks.

Frederick W. Green, manager of the Clover - Monroe branch of the Security Trust Co., testified that the defendant applied for a $3,000 loan last July 13. The local credit bureau rejected Schenk's application because his rating was not up to the bank's standards for granting loans, Green added.

The bank officer also said Schenk told him that he wanted the loan "to consolidate his outstanding obligations." Schenk mentioned that he owed money to four businesses in Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Knoxville, Tenn. Schenk said he owed $200 to "Samuels and Sturms in Oak Ridge," Green added.

Only Three Good Actors of Late Suggest Entertainment Star To Liven Congress Session

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe the whole thing's wrong.

Maybe Congress is too stuffy, too stiff, too cramped, too much in a rut and out of date. Maybe it needs to move outdoors, on a mountain or near one, in a field, in the woods, near a stream, or under a tent.

Only Dirksen Goes On
Perhaps a little music, or singing, or a few horsemen dashing up the grassy aisle at the last minute to break a tie vote would liven things up a bit, just to break the sameness and get the public interested.

In recent years there have been only three good actors in the Senate: Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Texas Democrat; and two Republican senators: George Murphy of California and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Johnson moved on to the White House. Murphy has hardly performed in his old professional way. Only Dirksen has never stopped acting.

He has just come out with a hit album of dramatic readings. "The Gallant Men," recites his voice which is one of the most fascinating in America since it starts out sounding like, "Oh, boy," and suddenly sounds like, "Oh, Lord."

It's beginning to sink in on politicians that they've lost their magic.

All year people by the hundreds of thousands troop into the Capitol to watch the House and Senate, where its all free, and probably not one in a thousand sits through one whole day to watch and listen.

Even Solons Stroll
But, for that matter, it's a rare senator or representative who sits in his chamber one whole day to listen to his colleagues, either.

Yet, around the country people pay out money by the bushels to sit for hours to see a show or hear a concert. And everywhere in America millions from supper to midnight sit entranced before television.

No wonder in California the Republicans picked Ronald Reagan to be their gubernatorial candidate or that the people elected him. And no wonder that now the defeated Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown, is suggesting actor Gregory Peck would be a good bet to run for the Senate.

Other Possibilities
Chuck Connors, one-time ball-player and television Western star, and John Wayne, the strong silent type of movies and television, have been mentioned as fine political candidates.

A few musicians like Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, for instance, would live up Senate sessions. When the Southerners put on a filibuster to block a civil rights bill they usually play to pretty thin galleries.

If Armstrong were a senator, and pulled out his trumpet to put on an anti-filibuster filibuster, he'd pack the place, wherever it was. And if Marian Anderson could get elected to the Senate and, instead of making a speech, gave a weekly performance with her magnificent contralto, the Senate could help reduce the national debt by selling tickets.

She'd be a sell-out every time. She'd never have to make a speech, just sing what she wanted to say.

How About Duke?

There'd be a real revolution in the Senate's way of doing things if New York sent Edward (Duke) Ellington to the Senate since he could provide both religious and jazz music for his colleagues.

There might be a hitch here, of course. He'd have to get unanimous consent before his orchestra in the gallery, or on the benches in the back of the tent, could play, but once it did there'd be dancing in the aisles.

Neither House nor Senate has any sense of humor. There's not a comedian in either place. This could be remedied if there were a Sen. Jack Benny or a Rep. Milton Berle.

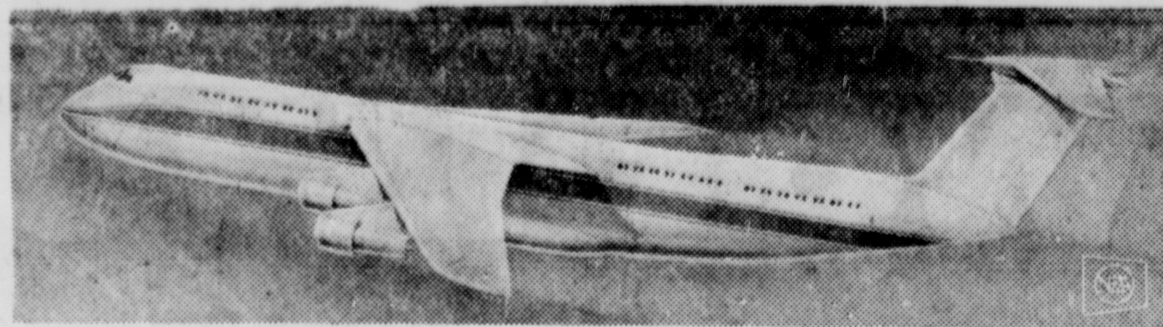

Approve 2 Projects For Dutchess County

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today announced the Government's approval of two Manpower Development and Training Act projects for Dutchess County. The first project will train 20 unemployed persons as stenographers during a 35 week training period. The project will cost a total of $52,492 with the Federal Government providing all of the funds. Training will take place at the MDT Center, 54 Hamilton Street, Poughkeepsie. The coordinator is Hy Kerman of the Poughkeepsie City Schools.

The second project will provide twenty-four unemployed workers with the training necessary to become Licensed Practical Nurses. This is a 45-week course. The project as approved will cost a total of $94,482, with the Federal Government providing all of these funds. The training will be conducted at the Poughkeepsie School of Practical Nursing. Adults of 18 years or older may apply for these training courses at the New York State Employment Service, 39 Academy Street, Poughkeepsie.

When it was found, the Jonker diamond weighed 726 carats, and was said to be unequalled in purity. It was cut into 12 flawless stones.

And there would be 100 percent roll calls in the House every time for sure if the speaker was the unpredictable Phyllis Diller. And who could break up bum arguments better in House or Senate, even without a gun, than James Arness, who plays Matt Dillon in Gunsmoke every Saturday night?

GIANT CARGO JET that would carry as much as 330,000 pounds of cargo was revealed by Lockheed at their third annual meeting and technical display recently. Aimed at more economical air transport service sometime in the 1970s, the big plane's major features will include a more advanced engine developing about 50,000 pounds takeoff thrust, beefed-up structure and new landing gear that will impose less stress on airport runways than current large jets.

Teacher Starts Public Battle Over Suspension

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — "If I'm a bad teacher I want to be fired," says William L. Bennett who has opened a public battle over his suspension as a teacher in Royal Oak.

"If I'm not a bad teacher I want to be rid of administrative interference so I can teach. It's as simple as that," says Bennett, 36, who has taught for 13 years in the Detroit suburb.

17 Counts Charged
Donald M. Currie, superintendent of schools, suspended Bennett Oct. 7, charging him with 17 counts of defiance of administrative orders and bizarre teaching methods. The charges date back to April 1965.

After the school board upheld the suspension Bennett demanded, and was granted, a public hearing, which has been adjourned until Dec. 14.

Charges against Bennett include his refusal to explain a complaint that he allegedly manhandled the daughter of a school board member, that he insulted administrators in the presence of students, refused to perform non-teaching duties in the library and lunchroom and deliberately had himself arrested by driving his car without 1966 license plates.

Gave Out Lollipops
Bennett, who said he gave out lollipops as incentives to his students, maintained a paperback book library in his American history classroom so pupils could read without the "stuffy setting of the library with all the rules about taking them out and returning them."

He made available shoeshine kits and manicure sets "to give the eighth graders something to do." He said "If a kid is going to waste his time and not study he might as well go out of class with his shoes shined or his nails trimmed."

Bennett defended the arrest for improper license plates as a "delicious game."

He said he drove around in 1966 with 1965 license tags on his car until "I finally made some hand signals at a patrol car and they (police) gave me a ticket."

He said the arrest incident was designed "to lead to classroom discussions of police work and equality under the law."

Javits' Switch May Open Door to Brooke

By BRENT KEETCH
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — James Kidd was a lonely man. He lived on the border of deprivation.

He spent most of his life in Arizona, working in the rugged copper mining town of Miami. He didn't drink. He was a bachelor who didn't have many friends.

Was Troubled
And Kidd was troubled by one of the most deeply rooted metaphysical problems facing man.

On the second day of the new year in 1946, he sat down and wrote out his will. Four years later he disappeared and has never been seen again.

His will is like a universal plea for assurance. He wanted his estate to go for "research or some scientific proof of a soul of a human body which leaves at death."

The frugal mine laborer left a legacy of more than $100,000. In the 16 years since his disappearance, the value of his shrewd investments has nearly doubled.

Kidd has been declared legally dead. An 18-day hearing on his will is scheduled for March 6 before Superior Court Judge Robert L. Myers in Phoenix.

Although Kidd said in his will he left no heirs, a number of persons have claimed the legacy as his relatives. Arizona courts, however, have maintained that the will constitutes a legitimate charitable trust.

So far eight religious or educational organizations have filed as claimants.

"It will be up to the claimants to convince the court that they qualify," Judge Myers said. "I can't tell you what I shall rule — even what I shall accept as a definition of the word 'soul' — until after the hearing."

"If no one qualifies under the stipulations of the will, the estate will go to his heirs if there are any. The State of Arizona will receive the legacy if no heirs turn up."

Judge Myers set aside the 18 days on his calendar for the hearing after learning from claimants' lawyers the time needed for their presentations. He didn't discount table rapping or other performances by mediums.

One of the most persistent contenders for the money is the Phoenix University of Life Church, Inc., which said it conducts seances and communications "beyond the grave," according to the brief filed by its counsel.

Since the March hearing was announced by Judge Myers, his office has been flooded with letters, phone calls and telegrams from prospective claimants.

Very little is known about the man who left the eccentric will. The Arizona Tax Commission reported he was born in Odensburg, N.Y., and later worked for the copper company in a small Arizona mining town.

A stock broker who knew Kidd in the late 1920's described him in a court deposition as a "very exclusive, lonely sort of man who didn't drink or have many friends. Once in a while he would find a five-cent cigar and it would last him all day."

Since giving the sketchy description, the stock broker has died. He appears to have been the last link with the eccentric mine worker.

Kidd retired from his salaried job at the mine in 1948. He was last seen on a Phoenix street in 1950. Eight years later he was ruled legally dead. His body has never been found.

Now it has fallen to the county court to try to solve the problem of Kidd's will and who is qualified to investigate the soul of man.

Worker Is Killed

NORFOLK, N.Y. (AP) — An accident at the Norfolk Paper Mill claimed the life Tuesday of George Reynolds, 22, of Raymondville, near his St. Lawrence County hamlet.

Sheriff's deputies said Reynolds was crushed when a tow motor he was operating fell on him when a platform slipped.

No Family Friction

NEW YORK (AP) — Brenda Vaccaro, who won critical plaudits for her featured performance in "The Cactus Flower," moves up to main billing in "The Natural Look," due on Broadway in February. Director of the show is Martin Fried, her husband.

ICE FISHING should come a bit easier with the use of a newly introduced straight-edge blade auger. Made by the Worth Co. of Stevens Point, Wis., the auger has four cutting edges that slice through thick ice quickly. Various-sized blades are interchangeable on the same handle.

Chrysler to Lay Off 680 Workers On January 3

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. says it will lay off several hundred employees early next year, making it the second of the nation's Big Three auto makers to cut employment because of waning sales.

The first step of General Motors' two-stage production cut totaling 8.3 per cent took effect this week with several thousand GM employees laid off around the country.

Ford Motor Co. and American Motors said they had no immediate plans for layoffs, but added they were considering ways of cutting costs.

Earlier this week, GM and Chrysler announced production cutbacks that would put industrywide December auto production at least 70,000 units below the same period last year.

GM, which laid off 4,000 men Monday at assembly plants in Atlanta, Ga., St. Louis, Mo., Arlington, Tex., and suburban Willow Run, said more layoffs

Will Start 18-Day Hearing in March For Proof of Soul

WASHINGTON (AP) — A switch by Sen. Jacob K. Javits may open a place for the nation's first popularly elected Negro senator to serve on a Senate committee headed by an all-out segregationist.

Has Inside Track
Javits is reported to have the inside track for a Republican vacancy on the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee. The New Yorker served briefly on this group in 1962 but was dumped from membership when Democrats increased their senatorial margin in 1962.

If senators with greater seniority step aside as expected, Javits will get the Appropriations assignment and give up his post on the Judiciary Committee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss. This may open the way for Sen-elect Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., a Negro, to get on Eastland's committee.

Brooke, who visited Washington briefly to interview prospective staff members, said he would be happy to get such an assignment.

Javits was represented as reluctant to leave the Judiciary Committee, where he has been an outstanding advocate of civil rights.

But he is up for re-election in 1968 — if he doesn't land a vice presidential nomination — and an Appropriations Committee spot would give him an opportunity to show what he can do for New York in the field of federal allotments.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican leader, said recently that he will demand that each of five new Republican senators be given places on at least two major committees.

Chrysler said it would lay off 680 workers Jan. 3. This would include 450 of 4,700 hourly and salaried employees at its Lynch Road plant in Detroit and 230 at its Los Angeles facility, which employs 2,100.

Seven-Year-Old Accepts Honors For Hero Father

FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP) — Thomas Patrick Lyons, staff sergeant's stripes on his sleeves, stood tall and proud as a general pinned a Purple Heart with oak leaf cluster and a Bronze Star over his chest.

Thomas is 7 years old. The stripes and the medals belong to his father, a victim of the Viet Cong.

In a ceremony Tuesday, the boy received the medals for Staff Sgt. Frank E. Lyons, a 39-year-old weapons squad leader who was mortally wounded as he cleared an enemy bunker of booby traps.

The 18-year-old died June 16, two months after he arrived in Viet Nam.

As Maj. Gen. William B. Latta, commander of Ft. Monmouth, pinned the medals over the boy's heart, Lyons' blonde widow, Margie, wept. Nearby were her three daughters, Margie, 14, Laura, 12 and Nancy, 11.

Veterans groups in Carlisle, N.M., asked residents of the city to observe a minute of silence at noon in conjunction with the sounding of 34 sirens. Motorists were asked to pull over to the side of the road.

At the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, brief ceremonies were scheduled at a tower housing the bell from the USS New Mexico, a World War II ship. The tower honors university students killed in the war.

Honors First Victim

The William Seely School in Groton, Conn., named for the first Groton boy who died in World War II, planned ceremonies including the presentation of a plaque to be mounted in Seely's memory. Seely was serving aboard the USS Arizona when the ship was bombed at Pearl Harbor.

In two-day ceremonies beginning today, Utah State University in Logan will dedicate its new "Center for the Study of the Causes of War and Conditions of Peace."

In an interview on the eve of the Pearl Harbor anniversary, Kimmel said that his Groton, Conn., ranch house that his being blamed for the naval defeat is "a bum rap."

"My principal occupation — what's kept me alive — is to expose the entire Pearl Harbor affair," said Kimmel, who on Dec. 7, 1941, was the No. 2 Navy man in America. He was the commander of the combined U.S. and Pacific fleets.

Blames FDR, Marshall

Kimmel was relieved of command 10 days after Japan knocked out 18 ships and killed 3,435 Americans, and in three months he was retired.

"They made me the scapegoat," he said. "They wanted to get the United States into the war."

Asked who he meant by "they," Kimmel replied: "That was President Roosevelt and Gen. George Marshall and others in the Washington high command. FDR was the architect of the whole business. He gave orders — and I can prove this categorically — that no word about Japanese fleet movements was to be sent to Pearl Harbor except by Marshall and then he told Marshall not to send anything."

Dems Get Two More

NEW YORK (AP) — Democrats have picked up two State Constitutional Convention seats in the official New York City election count, increasing the likelihood they will control next year's convention.

An unofficial statewide count shows the Democrats leading 89 to 82 with indications they had won most of the 15 delegates-at-large seats.

Figures released by the City Board of Elections Tuesday gave victory to three Democrats and one Republican-Conservative listed as losers in an unofficial count soon after the Nov. 8 election. Three Republicans and one Democrat had been thought the winners.

The four seats are in Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens.

4 Persons Hurt In Greene Crash

Four persons were injured in a two-car collision which occurred Tuesday night on Route 81 about three-tenths of a mile off Route 9W, Town of Coxsack.

State Police Sergeant Herbert Newton of the Leeds unit said the cars were operated by Edward Corey, 38, Watervliet, Francis Oathout, 33, of Earlton, Oathout's car was extensively damaged and towed from the scene of the mishap.

Injured were Corey, Oathout, Alzino Oathout and Michael Gause, owner of the car driven by Corey. No further details available.

Politico Slain

Vietnamese politics was a leading member of the Constituent Assembly which is writing a constitution for South Viet Nam.

His slaying a few blocks from Premier Ky's office overshadowed war developments. Only minor ground actions were reported from the fighting fronts although U.S. bombers kept up their raids over North Viet Nam. U.S. destroyers shelled supply barges just off the North Vietnamese coast.

U.S. officials reported the discovery of two 62-pound satchel charges in an ammunition dump at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport, which was attacked by a Viet Cong suicide force last weekend. The explosive charges were disarmed by demolition experts.

Shortly after the assassination of Tran Van Van, police seized a youth of about 20 named Vo Van En and after questioning him all day announced he had confessed he was a Viet Cong ordered to kill Van.

Could Affect Fund

There was speculation, however, that the slaying might have an effect on the running feud between politicians native to South Viet Nam and the refugees from North Viet Nam who dominate the government. Ky and most of the generals on the ruling junta are from the north.

Tran Van Van was a leading member of the southern faction and ran for the Constituent Assembly on a platform that openly appealed to southern sectionalism.

On the war front, U.S. pilots flew 70 strike missions over North Viet Nam Tuesday, hitting at lines of communications and storage areas in the Hanoi, Haiphong and Dien Bien Phu areas and in the southern panhandle.

Air Force pilots reported knocking out a bridge 78 miles northeast of Dien Bien Phu, and Navy fliers claimed hits on 10 cargo barges 45 miles northwest of coastal Dong Hoi.

First Since July

The U.S. command announced that one of two American jets lost over North Viet Nam Monday was the victim of a Communist MIG7, and the pilot was missing. It was the first American loss credited to the Communists since July. Since U.S. air attacks on the north began 22 months ago, the United States has reported the loss of six planes to MIGs. U.S. pilots have reported downing 26 of the Red jets and probably two more.

U.S. headquarters reported no significant ground action and reported 21 Viet Cong killed in three scattered engagements.

Says Experts Erred

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says U.S. intelligence experts underestimated the number of ocean-spanning missiles the Soviet Union will have in place by mid-1968.

But he says U.S. estimates of the number of long-range missiles now deployed by the Soviets are "remarkably accurate."

He added that the error in assessing Moscow's missile-production plans has "no basic impact" on U.S. offensive requirements.

JPK Under Knife

BOSTON (AP) — Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the late President John F. Kennedy, underwent minor surgery Tuesday at the New England Baptist Hospital for removal of skin lesions from his chest.

The former ambassador is remaining at the hospital for several days for a checkup.

He is scheduled to fly to his winter home in Palm Beach, Fla., at the end of the week.

Called to Trial In Death of Negro In Rights Activity

OPELIKA, Ala. (AP) — A white man was called to trial in state court today for the killing of a Negro student who had been active in the civil rights movement at nearby Tuskegee.

The student, Samuel Younge Jr., 21, was shot to death last Jan. 3 a few feet from a service station where Marvin L. Segrest, 68, worked as a night attendant. A second-degree murder indictment was returned against Segrest by a Macon County grand jury at Tuskegee.

The trial was moved to Opelika, in adjoining Lee County, after Segrest's attorney said the defendant could not get a fair trial in Tuskegee for many years a focal point of racial unrest.

Younge, a student at Tuskegee Institute, was found dead in a taxi stand driveway near the service station where Segrest worked.

Sheriff Harvey Sadler said Segrest admitted firing two pistol shots at the Negro after an argument. He told officers he did not believe at first that either of the bullets struck Younge, Sadler said.

under the Federal Urban Renewal Beautification program for $28,000 to improve Academy Green Park.

The mayor's request for the naming of a committee to study plans for a new downtown fire station was also left in committee.

Authorize Aides

In a letter to the council, the mayor proposed authorizing assistance to Corporation Counsel Murphy because of many pending certiorari proceedings dealing with requested tax reductions. The proposal was left in committee.

He proposed appointment of attorneys James C. Plunkett, John J. Schick and Elmer H. Nathan to assist Murphy and advised that in his opinion establishment of a law department, as has been proposed by Murphy, would eliminate such additional expenses.

Francis A. and Helen Bruno, 12 Susan Street, complained of a neighborhood disturbance caused by late night truck action at the Pine Grove Avenue building used by the postal department, and Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, submitted a resolution asked that movement of trucks in the area be prohibited between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

Complaints of Trucks

A complaint from Alderman Clifford Sinsbaugh (D) Fifth Ward, dealt with downtown truck action to and from the Hudson Cement Corp. plant, North Street, and he asked that City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle notify cement plant officials by letter of the neighborhood complaints. He cited careless driving of truckmen who, he said, have been failing to observe a speed zone limit of 15 miles an hour, and have committed other traffic infractions.

He said he realized that it was necessary for the plant to move its products, but asked that its officials be advised that unless the violations end he will "initiate the necessary legislation" to have them stopped.

Claims Filed

Of the claims, one totaling $65,000 was filed in behalf of Eugene Jackson, 5, and Artellus Jackson, of Colonial Gardens, as parent, for injuries suffered in a fall last August from a local park swing. The claim, seeking $50,000 for the child, and $15,000 for the father, was referred to the corporation counsel, Michael Nardone is the attorney.

Two others referred, totaling $30,000 allegedly resulted of a mishap at Green and Main Streets last August involving a motorcycle and a police patrol car. One for $10,000 was filed by Lawrence F. Bibbo, of Colonial Gardens, operator of the cycle, and the other for $20,000 was filed by Richard H. Lawrence, of Spring Lake Trailer Park, Saccoman & DiDonna are the attorneys. Officer James Scott was listed as driver of the patrol car.

Left in committee was a notice from Mayor Garraghan that a supplemental appropriation of $4,562.22 would be needed for garbage disposal. As of last July 31, he noted, the fund balance was $12,500 while $17,062.50 was needed to comply with new contract terms. He noted a fund of $40,950 was to be included in the 1967 budget for the purpose.

A zoning change petition affecting a property at 156-162 Abeel Street, filed by Edwin H. Meyers, of 33 Stephan Street, was referred to committee. He noted that he had purchased the property to house his electrical warehouse, storage and electrical supplies repair business after moving from 12 East Strand, which is in the Broadway East urban renewal area. Rusk, Rusk & Feeney are his attorneys.

Cite Conditions

Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward, complained of conditions on downtown streets resulting of present demolition in the urban renewal area, and asked that the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency be reminded that it had "guaranteed" that residents of the area would be "taken care of."

Epstein, noting the recent sale of The Freeman, which he said has long been an official city newspaper, recalled his pleasant association with it since the early 1930s as a downtown businessman. He was grateful to Mrs. Lucia deL. Klock, its former owner, and Freeman employees for this long and pleasant association, and wished the best of luck to the new owner.

Greenport Plant Is Hit by Fire

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — An early morning fire today destroyed much of the warehouse section of the Textile By-Products Corp. plant in suburban Greenport.

No one was injured. Company officials said the one-story, cement-block structure contained fibers for making felt for automobiles and other purposes.

Officials said they could not estimate the loss immediately. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Police Seize 5 Black Muslims In Takeover Raid

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives hiding in a Muslim mosque have seized five Black Muslims, including their semitar-waving leader, in what authorities said was an attempt to take over the prayer center from its Egyptian-born director.

The five were identified as followers of Elijah Muhammad, head of the virulently antiwhite Black Muslim organization.

Tells of Takeover

Police said one of the Muslims told Dr. Muhammad Rauf, director of the center used by Muslim diplomatic personnel: "We are going to take over this mosque. Our mosque was burned down. The people who regularly attend this mosque will from now on be at the black man's feet."

The five-story building on Riverside Drive in Manhattan is one of two Islamic mosques in the United States. Worshipers at the center include several ambassadors to the United Nations.

In reconstructing the takeover attempt, Rauf told police that he was in his study Tuesday when two men and Farragun Muhammad, the group's leader entered.

Ask for Records

Farragun, holding a scimitar, ordered Rauf to give him the building's records, books and deeds, police said. Rauf told them to return in the late afternoon when he claimed his secretary would be able to help them.

The Muslims promised to return, threatening Rauf's family and warning him, "If you don't agree it will be the end of you."

Calls were placed to the police, the Egyptian consulate, to the American delegation at the United Nations and the State Department.

Eight detectives were waiting for the Muslims in the mosque when they returned and one announced: "I'm here with my brothers to take over."

The five were held on charges of attempted robbery, attempted extortion, coercion and unlawful entry. All gave New York addresses except Farragun Muhammad who said he lives "all over planet earth."

Tempers Flare At Marine Booths

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Divergent student views on the Viet Nam war have led to jostling and shouting incidents at U.S. Marine Corps recruiting booths at the University of Maryland and the University of Wisconsin.

A loud, informal debate developed in the lobby of the University of Maryland Student Union Tuesday when members of Students for a Democratic Society set up a table of their own opposite the military booth.

A sign which said, "For War Crimes, Sign Up Here" and pointed to the Marine exhibit, was ripped from the hands of one student by another.

An SDS spokesman said his group set up its exhibit to challenge the Marines about Viet Nam. The SDS favors U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

At Madison, Wis., a shouting and pushing melee erupted Tuesday when a group calling itself the Committee for Direct Action confronted the Marine recruiting effort in the university's Memorial Union Building.

Pickets carried placards saying Marines trained killers.

A disturbance developed when action committee backers tried to question Marines about alleged incidents in the Philippine Islands and Korea. The Marines did not comment.

A campus policeman broke up a brief shouting match.

Heaton to Head Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the Army's surgeon general, will head the surgical-medical team for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's upcoming surgery for removal of his gallbladder.

Confirming this today, spokesmen for Walter Reed Army Hospital said, however, they still do not know what time the five-star general will check in at the hospital Thursday—or exactly when the operation will be performed.

Recalls Johnson As Always Bossy During Childhood

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — In a childhood recollection of President Johnson, his sister says he was "always bossy" and their parents always expected him "to be in high places — at least a senator."

Mrs. O. Price Bobbitt of Austin, Tex., told a reporter for the Columbia State Tuesday that the President was "given more responsibility" by their parents because he was the oldest of five children.

"I think he thought he was papa," she said. "He was always bossy."

Mrs. Bobbitt said that before her mother died, she had drawn up a genealogical history.

"People have told us that never before has there been a president who has had as much material available on his forebears," she said. "My mother was well educated and she prepared this material for all of us and because she thought some day Lyndon might need it."

Mrs. Bobbitt was in Columbia visiting friends after spending two weeks in New York. Her husband is vice president of the Texas Broadcasting Co., Austin. The Bobbitts have one son, Phillip, a student at Princeton University.

"Everywhere I've gone, I've had the problem of being Lyndon's sister," Mrs. Bobbitt said. "Since he's given to be president, I've gotten up — it's bigger than both of us."

Suggest Farber Coffin Collapsed In Coppolino Case

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino's defense has suggested that a coffin bearing his alleged victim's remains collapsed "six feet under," causing a fracture in the dead man's windpipe.

Coppolino, 34, is accused of strangling retired Army Lt. Col. William E. Farber, a neighbor, three years ago in suburban Middletown Township.

"Did you ever hear a report that the coffin had caved in?" defense attorney F. Lee Bailey asked three prospective jurors during Tuesday's murder trial proceedings.

All three said they had not. Bailey did not elaborate on the possibility of a caved-in coffin, except to say that the prime issue in the young anesthesiologist's trial was whether Farber actually was murdered.

"If we don't have a murder victim there is no case," he said.

Bailey also told prospective jurors the state's testimony may portray Coppolino as a man who engaged in "some extramarital activities."

"Are you willing to accept the fact that a man may stray without becoming a murderer?" he asked.

"Yes," replied the Rev. Earl C. Snyder, a 33-year-old Methodist minister later sworn in as a juror. The young clergyman said he had no religious or conscientious scruples against the death penalty.

Police Claim Death Was Gangland Killing

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — A volley of shots apparently fired from two passing cars today killed Joseph D'Amico, 27, of Boston, in what police said was the 36th gangland killing in Greater Boston in 2½ years.

Police said D'Amico was a passenger in a car driven by James Kerns, 28, of Boston. Kerns was charged with being an accessory after the fact of murder.

Kerns was found wandering around the car after it crashed. He was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital where he was charged and treated for a wound of the right cheek.

Doctors said they did not know if Kern's injury occurred in the crash or whether it was a bullet wound.

Asks Vote Result Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate inquiry into radio-television forecasts of election results before all votes are cast was urged today by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind.

Some recent computer forecasts on elections have been in error, Hartke said. He asked a hearing by the Communications Subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee.

"Viewers and listeners are misled—often unintentionally," the senator said. "Sometimes they are annoyed by being told that one candidate or another has been 'elected' when, in fact, only a handful of returns have been counted."

Hartke said there also is a question as to whether voters may refrain from casting their ballots if the electronic projection of results indicates that the contest has been decided.

Draft Overhaul Due

CHICAGO (AP) — A national draft conference is expected to call today for a major overhaul of the nation's Selective Service system — with the emphasis on limiting the authority of local draft boards.

The consensus seemingly emerged after more than four days of wrangling debate in the draft and its alternatives. The conferees made it clear that they agreed, along with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, that the present draft laws are a haze of

Will Resume GE Talks Next Week

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Officials of the General Electric Co. and leaders of a union on strike against the company here will resume negotiations in this city next week, a federal mediator says.

A spokesman for William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, announced the planned meetings shortly after a negotiating session in Washington had broken up Tuesday after making "no progress" at settling the 7-week-old strike.

"We just didn't find any basis for continuing the talks here," the spokesman said after the one-day meeting in the nation's capital.

Simkin and mediator William Rose met with both sides in separate and joint sessions to discuss the issues in the strike by Local 301 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO.

"No progress was made," the spokesman said.

Simkin had asked that the negotiations be moved to Washington because he said the strike was having an increasingly serious impact on the Schenectady area.

Approximately 11,500 workers struck the plant here Oct. 17. Union leaders have said the strike is over local issues.

M.E. Levy, General Electric's Schenectady plant manager for the company in the Washington talks.

Union spokesmen included John Shamito, Local 301's business agent, Joseph Mangino, chief plant steward, and Joseph H. Alois, acting local president.

Members of the reservations committee are John VanHorn and Robert Tust, William Fry, chairman, will preside.

Find It's Small World

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three men learned it's a small world when they got off an airliner that flew from Miami to Los Angeles Tuesday.

In the Los Angeles airport sat Miami police detective Sgt. John Haywood, waiting for a flight to Miami.

Haywood's superiors said he recognized the three travelers as men wanted for questioning about a Miami crime. He had Los Angeles officers arrest them on suspicion of robbery.

Turk Soldiers Perish

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Seven Turkish gendarmes soldiers were killed and 57 others injured — 21 seriously — when a military truck they were riding plunged into a ravine, according to reports which reached here Tuesday.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — On this 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, the economy of that once-defeated land is booming. Industrial might has replaced military power.

Cruel Irony Develops
Reflecting this, its people, once led by militarists, seem dedicated to peace. But in 25 years a cruel irony has developed, and now much of Japan's good life is sustained by a war in Vietnam.

Hundreds of millions of dollars flow into Japan because of the war. The estimate has even been placed as high as $1 billion but that is an extreme and unlikely figure.

These sales, of course, are primarily to the United States and South Vietnam.

Remarkable Similarities
There are similarities in the businessmen of both nations that are really remarkable. Prototypes and counterparts are found in each. A "typical" American businessman is not much different from a "typical" Japanese businessman.

Partly because of American aid, which began immediately after the war, partly through American technology, and a good deal through Japanese inventiveness, ingenuity and good sense, Japan quickly recovered from World War II.

During this period a mutual respect developed among commercial interests and is now sometimes referred to as the "Pacific partnership" of Japan and America.

Annual trade between the two nations now is close to $4.5 billion, perhaps the greatest trans-oceanic commerce ever developed between two nations.

It may be argued, and it has been, that modern Japan's wellbeing results from its need to fulfill the demands of its people through commercial rather than military means.

Short of Resources
Modern Japan is no better off in natural resources than it ever was. In fact, it is far shorter of resources than its Atlantic counterpart, Britain, or any of the heavily industrialized nations of Europe.

Japan has attempted to solve through commerce what its previous military leaders would not have believed possible.

For example, it must import its coal, some even from the United States. It must import scrap steel from North America and iron ore from Australia. But, nevertheless, it still exports finished steel to the United States.

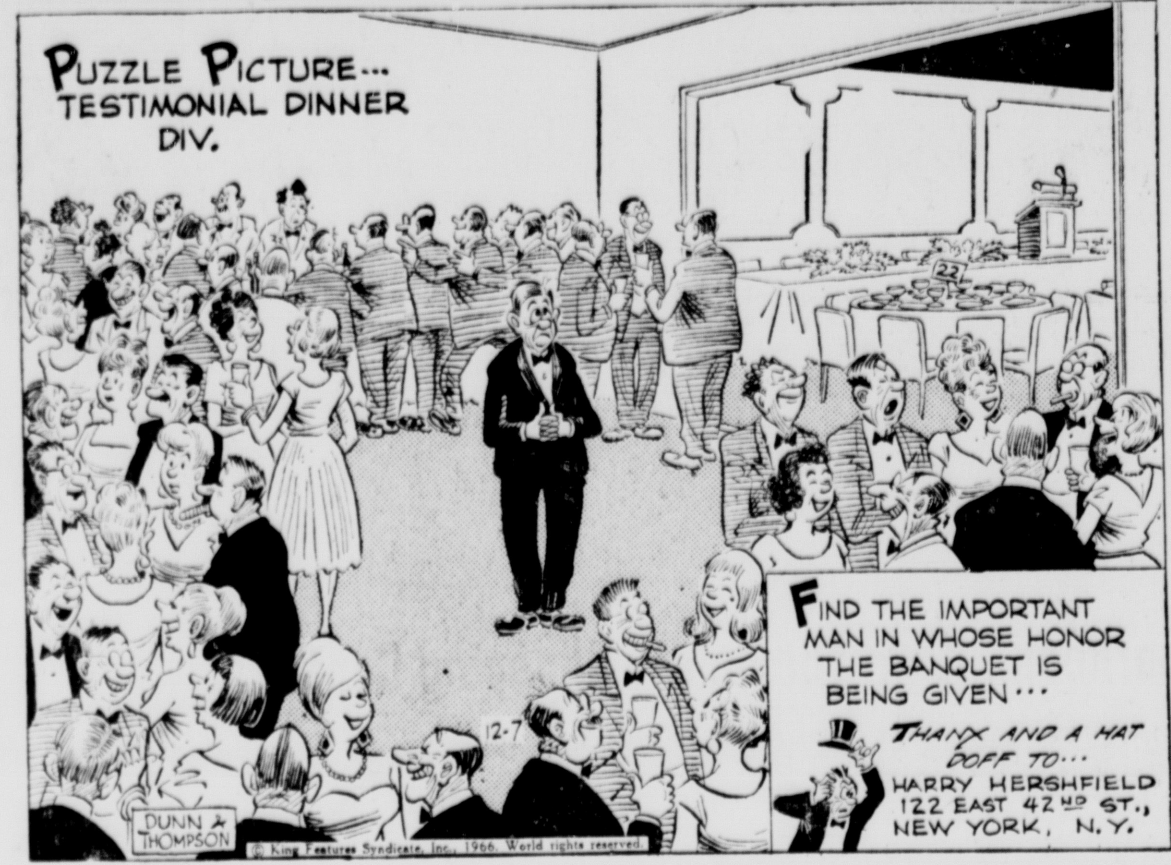

There are many measures of this success. Here are a few:

A very large percentage of the clean transistor radios sold in America, even some which carry well-known American trademarks, are made in Japan. —Japan is the world's largest shipbuilder and its steel mills are the third most productive in the world.

—Despite her need to import — and that includes rice for her people and alfalfa for her cows, — Japan has recently run up a surplus in her balance of payments account.

Completes Training
Army Private Lawrence R. Dutcher, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Dutcher, Shandaken, completed advanced training as a combat engineer Dec. 2 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME Registered U. S. Patent Office By JIMMY HATLO

Has Problems
SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — Vernon Sperry's decision to go to college brought these results:
After he enrolled in an art course at Glendale Community College, the school assigned him to night classes.
Sperry found the night drive to and from his home tiring and applied for a tuition refund.
"Two weeks later, the college advised me that I had been dropped due to absenteeism," Sperry said.
Now Sperry, a 68-year-old veteran of World Wars I and II, says he has a letter ordering him to report to the draft as a school dropout.

Rough Cashier
SHELBYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Cashier Bill Tingle went into action Tuesday when a stranger walked into the People's Bank of Bagdad, Ky., and demanded money.
In short order, Tingle:
—Threw a stool at the would-be robber and chased him from the bank.
—Fired three bullets into the tires of the getaway car.
—Caught up with the unarmed man on the outskirts of town and knocked him cold with a gun.
—Held the suspect until state police arrived.
Officers later charged Richard King, 43, of Louisville, with attempted robbery.

New Paltz Frampton Is Winner Of Science Medal

John Frampton, a senior at New Paltz High School, will be awarded the Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award at graduation in recognition of the highest scholastic standing in science subjects.

The Science Award, a bronze medal, is presented at graduation in more than 8,500 schools.

Winners of the Honorary Science Award are eligible to compete for science scholarships, at the University of Rochester. Three or more scholarships are sponsored by Bausch & Lomb; the University provides an even greater number. Students are based on need and have a total combined four-year value of about $50,000. The award winner is selected early so that his application for the scholarship competition can be filled out and returned to the University before the Jan. 15 deadline.

Frampton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frampton, Chodokee Lake Road, Highland. Mrs. Frampton is high school librarian at New Paltz Central.

Makes Good Delivery

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Since John Murray, 26, joined his father's ambulance service, he has helped deliver 14 babies.

The training came in handy recently when he helped his wife, Patricia Ann, 21, deliver their daughter at home.

Next time his wife is expecting, Murray said, "I think we'll make some plans to get her to the hospital earlier..."

Actor's Studio Sets Up Branch Out in Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is Los Angeles the vulgar capital of the world?

An Eastern magazine makes the claim in its current issue. Playwright William Inge said in reply: "Elizabethan England was very vulgar, but out of its vulgarity comes culture."

Inge made the remark as he and other transplanted New Yorkers met to announce the establishment of a Western outpost of the famed Actors Studio, the most influential force in American acting for the past decade and more.

Paul Newman Assists

Actors Studio-West was the brainchild of Paul Newman and director Jack Garfein, and they found immediate response from local graduates of the studio, the City of Los Angeles donated a headquarters for rent of $1 per year.

The nature of the place is ironic; it was formerly the home of William S. Hart, the stony-faced cowboy of silent films.

Garfein, who will act as executive director for the Western branch, said "There has been a tremendous influx here from New York of people in all crafts — acting, directing, writing, etc. Many are in Hollywood because they find work here. Others prefer to live here and fly to New York to read for a play; that's easy to do in the jet age."

"Many of these people have worked at the Actors Studio, and they discovered there is no place to develop their craft in California. After all, you don't grow as a performer when you are employed in soap operas, third-rate TV and B movies."

"This situation has caused an enormous waste of talent in this country. Actors are hanging around drugstores when they should be acting."

"The Actors Studio-West is designed to give actors a sense of continuity and purpose that they wouldn't have between assignments."

The new branch, which will be overseen by the New York studio's spiritual leader, Lee Strasberg, also will offer a workshop for playwrights, conducted by Inge. Plans include a 120-seat theater to be installed in what was once Bill Hart's garage.

Batman Holds Power

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Batman, television's caped crusader, holds the balance of power in a City Commission race, all because some joker put his name on a write-in ballot.

Amazed officials counted the votes in an election Tuesday for a city commissioner three times and each time got the same result.

Candidates Howard James and Joseph Stargel each received 674 votes and there was one write-in vote for Batman. The votes were made official.

City Atty. William A. Guner said he will have to do some extensive research to find an answer to the problem. Gainesville has never had a tie election before and the city's election machinery makes no provision for a runoff.

BRIDGE

Difficult Hand Easily Played

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Oswald: "If Al Morehead had any weakness at the bridge table it was that occasionally he made a simple hand look difficult. On the other hand, he was in a class by himself at making a difficult hand look simple."

Jim: "Here is a hand from 'Morehead on Bidding' which shows how to make a difficult hand look easy. Al reports that when South, played the hand he cashed two trumps. Then he led out the ace and king of hearts only to have East ruff in and beat him."

Oswald: "Al explained that about half the experts shown this hand went down just as the actual declarer had. I must point out that Al solved the problem of making the grand slam in about three seconds."

Jim: "Here is his explanation: 'The proper play is quite obvious when you stop to consider it. You should not try to guard against a 5-0 heart split but you should guard against a 4-1 split in that suit combined with a 3-1 trump break. At trick two, cash your queen of trumps. Then you cash the ace of hearts, enter dummy with the ace of trumps, discard your king of hearts on the king of clubs, ruff a heart with your jack of trumps and enter dummy with the king of trumps. This is the third trump lead and pulls East's last trump. Then you ruff another low heart with your last trump, cash your ace of diamonds and claim the balance in dummy with a trump and three good hearts.'"

Oswald: "Obviously to Al. He was perhaps the greatest analyst of all time."

Jim: "Morehead points out in his analysis for the bidding that South really should have bid five

Granted Fare Boost

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Liberty Coaches of Yonkers gained permission today to increase most of its bus fares by five cents, effective Dec. 10.

The State Public Service Commission also authorized the company to establish a new, 15-cent fare for high school students using its Yonkers-Hastings route.

The new fares are expected to produce about $16,900 in additional income annually. The company said it needed more revenue to continue adequate service.

Japan Regaining Asian Power, but Changing Tactics

TOKYO (AP) — A quarter of a century after Pearl Harbor, Japan is again established as a giant among Asian nations. It wants to be a friendly giant. Relations with its neighbors range from uncomfortable to cordial. They are steadily improving, with World War II fading into the past.

Memories Linger

Yet memories of the war and earlier occupations linger in some places. And there is some fear of economic domination by resurgent Japanese industry. Japan itself is still emerging from the psychological shock of defeat.

It is promoting trade, but underplaying politics. Some critics have speculated Tokyo is peacefully trying to establish the "greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere" that Japan failed to impose by force.

Japan is now offering economic and technical aid to other Asian countries. A Japanese Peace Corps is at work. Government ministers are making regular visits abroad. But Japan has far to go.

Here is a country-by-country rundown of Japan's image in the eyes of other Asians:

PHILIPPINES

The Filipino is gradually losing his hatred of his former conquerors. A few pockets of resentment remain.

SINGAPORE

Many here still hate the Japanese. Unwritten immigration laws ban any Japanese involved in the occupation from returning.

The government has urged people to forgive and forget.

INDONESIA

Japan is moving fast to gain a foothold in Indonesia. Particularly interested in developing oil fields, mining and industry. Japan gave Indonesia a $30 million credit this year.

High pressure methods of Japanese, such as bringing 10 or more men into a conference with two Indonesian officials, disturb Indonesians.

MALAYSIA

Japanese advertisements flash in Malaysian cities. Japanese traffic includes businessmen, tourists, Peace Corps volunteers, aid missions and night club performers.

The economic invasion is likened by one merchant to the military invasion of 25 years ago. But this time, he said, "The Japanese are welcome — they offer all the good things in life, carpets to pearls, at a cheaper price."

NATIONALIST CHINA

The shadow of Red China darkens relations between Taipei and Tokyo. President Chiang Kai-shek's regime discounts a Japanese belief that Japanese trade with the mainland can be separated from politics.

Nationalist trade with Japan and Japanese loans are important factors in Formosa's economy. Contacts are correct, but lack the warmth Formosa shows to other nations such as the United States and South Korea.

SOUTH KOREA

To many Koreans, Japan is still a former enemy and colonial ruler with whom their government restored normal relations just a year ago.

President Chung Hee Park says Koreans do not have to forget the past but must work with Japan to maintain peace and security in North Asia.

HONG KONG

Japan is Hong Kong's biggest supplier after Red China. Imports from Japan in the first six months of 1966 totaled about $14 million compared to $20 million from China.

Japanese businessmen say they have experienced no anti-Japanese discrimination in the British colony.

But it is generally acknowledged that there is an undercurrent of feeling — possibly minor — among middle-aged residents.

THAILAND

Thailand and Japan have excellent relations. But hints are dropped here from time to time about the dangers of an imbalance in trade.

In 1965, Japan exported to Thailand $219 million worth of goods, one third of Thailand's total foreign trade. Thailand's exports totaled $151 million.

See No Difficulty In Clearing Ships

MONTREAL (AP)—A spokesman for the St. Lawrence Seaway says officials anticipate no difficulty in clearing the remaining seven ocean-going ships from the channel and Great Lakes before the seaway closes for the winter.

The seaway will likely be kept open on a day-to-day basis until at least Friday, the spokesman said Tuesday. Three of the ships were in the canal Tuesday and four of the vessels were in Lake Ontario.

Two of the ships in Lake Ontario, the New York City and the Orient Mariner, were expected to be the last ships to clear the seaway this year.

Last year, the channel was kept open until Dec. 13.

Judge Connor Has Offer of Social Workers Society

The Hudson Valley Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers has offered its services to Judge E. J. Connor in evaluating the Luni foster care case in the light of accepted Social Work practice in Child Welfare.

Judge Connor was appointed last week as special guardian for Beth St. John by Surrogate Robert Waldron Herzberg sitting in Ulster County Supreme Court.

The professional organization of social workers has been queried as to its position on the Luni case, but has been unwilling to make any statement on the merits of the case without a fuller knowledge of the facts. Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons has told Chapter officials that he would make available to a professional panel all pertinent material and records upon written authorization from State Social Welfare Commissioner George K. Wyman. While Commissioner Wyman has not as yet given such specific authorization, he has assured a representative of the Chapter that professional social workers from the staff of his department are assisting in the development of the report on the case requested by Governor Rockefeller.

Miss Phyllis J. Hatch of Newburgh, chairman of the Hudson Valley Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers, stated that a panel of NASW members, headed by Perry Scherz of Middletown, has been selected to include social workers with substantial experience in both foster care and adoption, and are available for consultation if needed. Judge Connor has been so advised, and has indicated his interest in using this resource.

Hurok Special Impressive Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Great music by large orchestras and fine dancing by corps de ballet often, by their very size, fit poorly into the small television screens.

By adroit setting and skillful but unobtrusive camera work, the problem was almost entirely overcome Tuesday night in CBS' handsome tribute to impresario Sol Hurok.

Seen, Not Heard

The Russian-born Hurok, who was seen on camera a few times but not heard during "S. Hurok Presents" was well represented by some of the great stars who have performed under his aegis. Marian Anderson introduced the talent and narrated movingly the words in Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait." She spoke of a cultural exchange of artists, saying that Hurok "has done more for it than anyone."

The program consisted of performances by the international artists who have been important in the exchange. Antonio and the Ballets de Madrid performed in casten-clackine. Stern played Mozart. Van Cliburn's contribution was a Rachmaninoff concerto. Andres Segovia's guitar solo was by Villa-Lobos. Two portions of the program were turned over to the Bolshoi Ballet.

When the soloists were playing the camera moved forward, sometimes concentrating on the faces of the artists and then lingering in closeup on the hands of the instrumentalists and the feet of the dancers. The only real "production" surrounded the Copland number and that was a series of Lincoln pictures on the screen against the background of Alfred Wallenstein and the orchestra's music.

It was, as promised, "an evening of musical excellence," and an impressive way of honoring a man who has done so much for music.

Cabot on Shelf

CBS' "Family Affair," one of the few successes of the new season, suffered a blow Tuesday. Sebastian Cabot, the bearded, round actor who is so important as the gentleman's gentleman in the series, was hospitalized and a temporary replacement must be found.

A representative of the series said that Cabot is suffering from an ulcer and will be unable to work for several weeks. Several performers are under consideration, but it is thought that John Williams will be chosen to fill the vacancy.

Recommended tonight: "Blithe Spirit," NBC, 7:30-9 EST, adaptation of the Noel Coward comedy with Dirk Bogarde and Rachel Roberts; "Christ is Born," ABC, 8-9, religious documentary filmed in the Holy Land; "Frank Sinatra: A Man and his Music," CBS, 9-10, musical special in which the singer is joined by his daughter, Nancy.

Ike, Truman, Rusk, Others

Many Famous Figures Can Trace Start of Pearl Harbor Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was Dec. 7, 1941 — one-quarter of a century ago.

A senator named Harry S. Truman was sound asleep in a small hotel in Columbia, Mo. Dwight D. Eisenhower, just promoted to brigadier general, was catching a nap in his quarters at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Brig. Gen. Omar N. Bradley was admiring the flowers in the yard of his home at Ft. Benning, Ga.

A scrawny, 17-year-old farm hand, Audie L. Murphy, was trudging down a muddy road near Floyd, Tex.

Lt. Col. Mark Clark of the U.S. Army was taking an after-dinner stroll through a woods in Virginia.

Brooding Bauer

In East St. Louis, Ill., muscular Hank Bauer, 19, was brooding over whether he would ever make it to the big leagues.

At the Defense Department in Washington a young captain of military intelligence, Dean Rusk, was poring over papers in his office.

Another young Army officer, William C. Westmoreland, was in his car between Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Greensboro, N.C.

All were about to hear that the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor, plunging the United States into World War II. They heard it at various times, by various means and with various reactions.

Westmoreland is now the general commanding U.S. forces in another war — in Viet Nam.

As he recalls it, "On 7 Dec. 1941 I was a young captain on duty with the newly activated 9th Infantry Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C."

"The division had just returned from extensive maneuvers in North and South Carolina and, as I was driving from Ft. Bragg to Greensboro to visit friends, I heard the news of the Pearl Harbor attack over my car radio."

Gone Four Years

"I realized that this was the beginning of exciting years ahead. I considered myself fortunate to be a part of a ready unit of the U.S. Army. Shortly thereafter I was on my way to North Africa, not to return until over four years later."

Harry S. Truman, who became president before the war ended, was chairman of a special Senate committee investigating the defense program.

Exhausted by its long hearings, he had gone to Columbia for a rest before attending a state Democratic convocation on Dec. 9 at nearby Jefferson City, Mo.

A telephone call from Mrs. Truman, at their Washington home, roused him from sleep to hear the news of Pearl Harbor.

"He was frantic," his daughter Margaret, now Mrs. Clifton Daniel, related in her autobiography "Souvenir."

"He knew that he had to be back in Washington immediately but, pining for isolation, he had taken himself far from established airlines."

Hopped Private Plane

"He leaped into his clothes and walked across the field to a little private airport on the outskirts of Columbia and stated his predicament.

"The owner of the airport borrowed a private plane and flew him to St. Louis where he managed to get on a plane for Washington, arriving in time for the convening of Congress."

A rural mail carrier in an old model A Ford stopped on the muddy road near Floyd, Tex., to tell Audie Murphy about Pearl Harbor.

"I did not even know where Pearl Harbor was, or how it related to the United States," Murphy recalls. "But the man was highly indignant over the bombing so I thought I might as well be indignant, too."

Murphy tried to enlist in the Marines and paratroopers but they took one look at his skinny, 117-pound frame and turned him down. He finally got into the infantry on his 18th birthday, June 20, 1942.

Killed 242 Germans

During two years of combat in Europe, Murphy won the Medal of Honor and two Silver Stars for valor in combat, was wounded three times and was reported to have killed 240 of the enemy personally.

He is now a movie actor with a long string of screen credits. Dwight D. Eisenhower had spent most of the day working on a report on Louisiana maneuvers. In this greatest peacetime military war game he had been chief of staff to Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger.

He went to his quarters in the early afternoon, ate lunch and lay down for a nap. He was bone tired. "Under no circumstances," he told his wife Mamie, was he to be disturbed.

Eisenhower had barely closed his eyes when the telephone rang. It was an aide who informed him of the attack on Pearl Harbor. Five minutes later the future Allied military commander and U.S. President was back in his office.

Hank Bauer had just finished his first year of professional baseball — with Oshkosh of the Wisconsin State League.

"On Dec. 7, 1941, I was back in East St. Louis working as a maintenance man at the Obernester Glass Co.," he says. "I wasn't working that day, but I don't remember specifically what I was doing."

"I was just a kid at the time."

Finds It Rough to Be Kin Of Gen. Vinegar Joe Stilwell

By JOHN NANCE

DAU TIENG, South Viet Nam (AP) — His grandfather was "Vinegar Joe," his father was a famous general, too, and for Capt. Joe Stilwell III it's like being "in a goldfish bowl."

Fame of his forefathers has put the 27-year-old officer on the spot. He's the third Stilwell to go to war in Southeast Asia.

Pressure, Pressure

"Pressure?" he said. "Yeah. 'Do something right and everybody says, 'Of course, look at his family.' But do something wrong and listen to them howl: 'Hey, lookit what Stilwell did now!'"

He is the air operations officer with the 1st Battalion, 18th Infantry, 1st Infantry Division. It's a job with responsibility but Stilwell wants command of a rifle company.

"I'm hoping to get a company in the next couple of months," he said during an operation in the jungles near the Cambodian border.

His helmet was cocked to one side as a bulbous earphone pressed against one ear. His eyeglasses slipped down his nose.

The battalion was establishing an encampment in a clearing deep in War Zone C, about 80 miles northwest of Saigon. Helicopters swirled in with ammunition, equipment and supplies.

Barks Into Phone

Stilwell, with a slight beard on his jutting chin, barked into a field phone. There might have been a resemblance there to "Vinegar Joe," the caustic Gen. Stilwell of World War II who won fame in Burma against the Japanese and with airlifts into China.

The 1st Infantry troops were in pursuit of a Viet Cong force that made War Zone C its home, headquarters and long-time sanctuary.

Jets frequently swooped across the tree tops unleashing napalm and bombs. GIs were moving through the jungles and the air strikes had to be closely controlled. Stilwell spent hours on the phones, coordinating with air observers, brigade headquarters and troops in the field.

During quiet moments, Stilwell with earphones still clamped over his head, sat on a sandbag and worked on a crossword puzzle.

Likes the Line

"It's interesting here," he said. "But I'd rather be on the line somewhere. That's the place to be."

He arrived in Viet Nam last summer but was soon called back to the United States when his father, Brig. Gen. Joseph Stilwell II, was lost in a DC3 that crashed in the Pacific between San Francisco and Honolulu. The father was commander of the Special Forces Training Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C., at the time.

Joe III spent two months at home with his mother and sister, then returned to Viet Nam in late September to pick up his assignment.

Congregation Retreats

FORT WORTH (AP)—Evans Avenue Baptist Church, a white congregation situated in an area now predominantly Negro, is moving out of the section to merge with another white Southern Baptist Church seven miles away.

pilot at Saughley Field, Pensacola, Fla., almost got shot on Pearl Harbor Day, although thousands of miles from the fighting. "I was getting ready to go dove hunting. When I heard the news my first reaction was shock, and I could see myself right in the middle of the war in short order," he says. "As it turned out, I wasn't in it until 10 months later at Guadalcanal."

Close Call

"I was officer of the day which meant among other things that I had to check the sentries. I made my rounds on a bicycle. It was just getting dusk when a guard yelled 'halt.' I put on the brakes and the bicycle went out from under me."

"I got skinned a little. I was afraid the guard would get excited and shoot me."

Unfortunately for the Japanese air force, the guard held his fire. Foss went on to shoot down 26 Japanese aircraft in the Pacific Theater of Operations. He won the Medal of Honor and later, as a civilian, was twice elected governor of South Dakota and was commissioner of the American Football League.

And where was Lyndon B. Johnson, then a congressman from Texas; now the President of the United States?

Says Bill D. Movers, White House press secretary: "He doesn't have any special recollection of that day, including where he was."

Flags Observe Attack of 1941

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Flags flew at half staff on all state buildings this morning, then were raised to full staff at noon in observance of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

Gov. Rockefeller ordered the ceremonial flag display to mark the 25th anniversary of the attack.

In the order issued Tuesday, Rockefeller noted that the flags would be raised to full staff "to remind us that, although adversity may befall us on occasion, we will always, with the Grace of God, achieve final victory."

The New York Department of the Catholic War Veterans requested the official commemoration, Rockefeller said.

Johnson, then a congressman from Texas; now the President of the United States?

Board Hears Videcom's Plea; Notes Fire Escape Violation

At a public hearing preceding Monday night's regular meeting of the Saugerties Village Board, trustees heard arguments on the application of Videcom, Inc., of Saugerties to increase service rates from $4.50 to $5 per month.

Three representatives of the firm were present, along with two interested residents and Attorney Robert Schirmer, representing Videcom. Schirmer noted that a major reason for the increase was the fact that the firm had not asked higher rates since operations began in 1962, although the company has increased the number of channels available from eight to 12 and added weather and music on Channel 8. No other company, with comparable service, he said, charges less than $4.95 monthly and most services charge $5 or more.

Schirmer argued that rising costs of labor and maintenance have forced Videcom to request this increase. The two local residents attending posed questions on whether clarity of pictures would be improved should the increase be granted and whether periodic increases will now be requested.

The Village Board took no action in the matter Monday and withheld decision until a later date.

Discusses Fire Matters

During the regular meeting which followed, Fire Commissioner Donald R. McCaig reported that fire warden inspections of public buildings have been completed, with one violation noted. The fire chief will contact the owner of the property involved. McCaig and Philip Breithaupt, multiple residence inspector, requested Town Clerk James V. Gage to contact Mrs.

Minnie Marcus, of Kingston, to advise her that a fire escape must be installed on a building owned by her on Partition Street, housing an empty store front on the street floor and apartments above. Breithaupt said he wrote Mrs. Marcus several months ago and also spoke to her on the telephone but, to date, no attempt has been made to install the necessary fire escape.

Street Commissioner Maurice L. Clements reported that work is still underway on the Dock Street water line and should be completed shortly. Police Commissioner Charles W. Steele Jr. announced that the parking meter ordinance will not be enforced until after Christmas. He also reported that the local police car, a vehicle which has, along with its predecessor, shown a pronounced knack for becoming involved in accidents, was slightly damaged in the front recently. Steele said the mishap occurred when the car rushed to the scene of a fire on Lighthouse Drive and was dented while turning around.

On the request of several village residents, Town Clerk Gage will write to the State Traffic Commission to ask that a caution light be installed on the corner of Elizabeth Street and Ulster Avenue.

Mayor Cornelius M. Cox noted the receipt of a check for $100 from Scholier Tree and Landscaping Service, of Saugerties, as a contribution to the local Tree Bank program started recently by the village. A letter of thanks will be forwarded to the firm and the firm and the mayor and anyone wishing to contribute to this fund may do so.

Class Visits Post Office

The primary group of the ungraded class of Saugerties Main Street School visited the local post office Thursday afternoon accompanied by teacher, Mrs. Grace Snyder.

The children have been learning about a very important community helper—the postman—and have enjoyed watching him on his "appointed rounds" of delivering mail to the house on the street. They also watched him unlock the corner mail box and remove letters.

Children were interested in the mailing slots and what happens to letters after they are mailed. A worker puts letters through the canceling machine and children saw the printed lines across each stamp to cancel it so that the stamp cannot be used again.

Children saw the mail pouches and how they were locked. The locked bags were loaded onto a hand truck. The loading platform was of much interest to the class and many denominations of stamps appealed to children. The time clock was interesting, too.

The children discussed how to help the postman by writing names and addresses clearly, by putting the right addresses on letters and by controlling dogs. We can also help by keeping sidewalks free from ice and snow in the winter time.

The trip was very interesting and worthwhile. The class wishes to extend thanks to Mr. Burhans and his workers for showing children the process of sending mail. They plan to write and mail a letter to Santa soon; have read several books about the mail.

CLOTHING FOR DRIVE—Usable clothing and bedding collected by area Catholic parishes for the world needy is shipped to New York where it will be cleaned, sorted and shipped overseas. Smith Avenue Storage and Warehouse Moving Company collected the material from the local churches. The Faerber Company is also transporting the clothing free of charge to the Brooklyn Terminal. Assisting with the loading are the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church and dean of Ulster County, Patrick Charnello, Frank Argulewicz, Jerry Gagner and Matthew Blue. Need More Toys For Needy Kids

Christmas is rapidly drawing near and all Saugerties Jaycees are eagerly working on toys for needy children. Many toy donations have been received; however, more toys are needed to complete this project. All Saugerties residents are urged to search their closets, attics and toy chests for any toys they can donate.

League Studies Financing for Stream Cleanup

Who pays for a clean stream? "The cost of stream cleanup is the crux of the water pollution abatement problem," said Mrs. Charles Steele of the League of Women Voters of Saugerties. Mrs. Steele, who is water resources study item chairman of the League, and members of her committee will present a program entitled "Industrial Pollution Abatement: Polluter's or Taxpayer's Burden?" at the League's December meeting.

Discussion will center on whether financial help should be given to private companies by the federal government as incentives and assistance in meeting costs of water pollution abatement, or whether the polluting companies themselves should pay costs. By July 1967, as a result of the Water Quality Act of 1965, states will have set standards for higher water quality on interstate streams and adopted plans to enforce them. If the states have not done this, the federal government will. Because at this time no national picture is available of the extent of industrial waste discharged into waterways, no one can know how large an investment will be needed to cut back such wastes so that water use for other purposes will be unimpaired. However, it is known that meeting these standards will involve an expense to manufacturing plants. Where is the money coming from?

The League's December meeting will be held Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 8 p. m. at Saugerties Methodist Church. The League is a nonpartisan organization established to promote active participation of citizens in their government. Membership is open to all women citizens of voting age.

Reformed Church To Present Gifts

The second in a series of sermons for Advent will be delivered by the Rev. Orville Jay Hine at 9:45 and 11 a. m. services at Reformed Church of Saugerties Sunday. Title of the sermon is, Advent—Promise in Despair. The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered Sunday.

Sunday church school will meet in the chapel on John Street at 9:45 a. m. Plans have been announced with reference to preparation for Christmas in the church school. All boys and girls will participate in bringing gifts to be sent to Children's Shelter at Winnebago and Southern Normal School at Brewton, Ala. Gifts will be presented at both services when they will be placed under the Christmas Tree in the church. Boys and girls in Grades 5-6 will present gifts at 9:45 a. m. service and boys and girls in Grades 1-2 will present gifts at 11 a. m. service.

Plans are being made under the direction of Mrs. James Kellerhouse for the presentation of a pageant on Sunday evening, Dec. 18. Boys and girls of all classes will participate in the pageant entitled, "Everywhere, Everywhere, Christmas, Tonight."

Youth Fellowship will meet at 7 p. m. Sunday to work on plans to present "A Living Nativity" on the front lawn of the church during the week preceding Christmas.

Junior Choir, Youth Choir, Junior Girl Scouts and Confirmation Class will all meet at regular times this week.

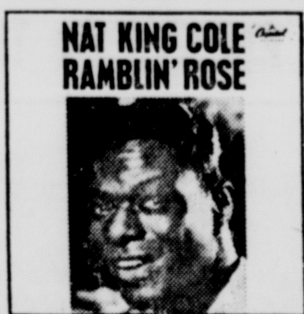

East-West Intermeshing

NEW YORK (AP)—Eastern Orthodoxy will "become less and less an 'Eastern' church, just as western Christianity ceases to be only 'western,'" as a result of the modern ecumenical movement, an Orthodox theologian, the Rev. John Meyendorff, writes.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks:

Many of the new garments go through the permanent crease process after the article has been completed.

Therefore, it is important to buy permanent crease garments to fit. Because when altered, the original seams and creases will continue to show after laundering.

When purchasing permanent crease articles, inspect them carefully. We have been notified by authorities that: "If you see any out of place wrinkles, creases, or puckers present in the article, select another garment. If the wrinkles, creases, or puckers are there when you buy them they won't come out after wearing or laundering."

Dear Heloise: My New Year's resolution will be to remember to ask for a receipt for prescriptions for members of my family.

To keep these safe and in order, I plan to purchase a recipe box, and file all receipts behind each family member's name. These will be for medicine, eyeglasses, doctor bills, etc.—which have to be kept for insurance and/or income tax purposes. Behind these receipts, I plan to set up files for department store receipts and anything that shows interest or sales taxes paid on it.

But I'll be better organized when income tax time and insurance claim time rolls around from now on.

Wish I'd thought of it before.

Dear Heloise:

I'm always glad to have left-over eggnog after the holidays.

I put it in instant vanilla pudding instead of milk.

Hot cereals such as cream of wheat and oatmeal are like a delicious pudding when eggnog is used in place of milk.

My children are already wanting me to buy some eggnog for these uses.

Mrs. Gary Weeks

Dear Heloise:

For bird lovers and bird watchers who like to feel birds:

Take an empty bleach jug and cut the top funnel part off diagonally. Remove the cap and nail it upside down on a cut off broom handle or stick and screw the cut off part back into the cap.

Push the stick into the ground and fill the inverted funnel with your favorite bird seed or feed.

Alexander Bailey

Dear Heloise:

When brushing my hair it is much less tiring if I lie on the bed and hang my head over the edge.

I'm told this also improves the blood circulation to my scalp.

Rules Death Accidental

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)

—A peace justice acting as coroner said Tuesday the death of David T. Burritt, 24, of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., was accidental.

Burritt fell four stories from the roof of a motel Monday.

Peace Justice Charles Luke said the fall was accidental and no coroner's inquest would be held.

and makes my hair more beautiful.

Mary Beth Schenck

Dear Heloise:

An old wool blanket makes an excellent pad for an ironing board. It will never wrinkle and lasts for years.

Wanda Northrup

Dear Heloise:

I recently helped mail out almost 3,000 invitations.

I discovered that ironing is an excellent and fast method for sealing envelopes.

Use a wet sponge to wipe once over the gummed envelope flap, fold down and press once with your iron set on medium heat.

One envelope at a time works better than lining up the envelopes for mass production.

It's really fast and seals the envelopes well, plus they don't stick together as when lined up.

Dear Abby . . .

The Joy of Giving

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about Christmas and the single person? Last Christmas I bought 22 gifts for my family and got back three in return. I have two brothers and one sister, all married. And they have a total of 16 children.

I bought expensive gifts for my sister and her husband, and for both brothers and their wives, and all the kids. I spent $250 all told.

And guess what I got? One gift from each family which couldn't have added up to $20 in value. Does this seem fair to you? What do you suggest?

GYPPED

DEAR GYPPED: I suggest that since you obviously do not give for the joy of giving, you put an end to the hypocrisy and quit giving expensive gifts. Face it, the only way you'll ever be able to come out even with that cheap clan is to get married and have 16 children.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter recently married a fine young man, and they live in another state. My daughter advised me that his parents address all their letters to "MR. AND MRS." and I should do the same. Abby, I do not object to this as long as what I have to say is to be shared by both her and her husband, but my daughter and I have always enjoyed a very close relationship, and there are still things I would like to write to her in confidence — just between her and me.

She says that now that she is married there should be no secrets from her husband, and he should know everything. I can't help but feel that I have lost the closeness I once had with my daughter. She is all I have. Please give me your opinion.

SOMETHING LOST

DEAR SOMETHING: If your daughter is determined to share with her husband everything you write to her, including personal messages, try the telephone for matters you wish to be strictly for her two ears.

DEAR ABBY: How can people be so rude? I am one of those people who eat like a horse and look like a walking skeleton. Most of my friends have told me that I am skinny, and someone is always giving me a remedy that will fatten me up. I have tried everything, but I can't seem to gain any weight.

Sometimes people I hardly know will walk up to me and stretch their fingers around my waist, and say, "Gee, you're skinny." They would never walk up to a person and say, "Gee, you're fat."

My mother says that I am not that thin, but I know she's just saying that to make me feel better. I have been hurt so many times by these rude remarks. How can I answer them?

SKINNY

DEAR SKINNY: Silence is always the most eloquent response to a rude remark. But do see a doctor, honey. He may enjoy fattening someone up — for a change.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STANLEY: Ask her. No girl is insulted by a proposition that has a genuine ring to it.

Seek Applicants For Postmaster In Town of Esopus

Applications are now being received for the position of postmaster in the Town of Esopus, a position which carries an annual salary of $6,113. The cut-off date for applications is Dec. 27.

Among the applicants is the present acting postmaster, Mrs. David E. Reilly of Parker Avenue, Esopus.

Mrs. Reilly was appointed acting postmaster June 17. The former postmaster, Mrs. Aaron (Alice) Jones, retired on Jan. 1.

In addition to the postmaster, the Esopus Post Office employs two part-time clerks. One clerk works from 8-10 a. m. and 3-5 p. m. weekdays and the other works 8-12 a. m. Saturdays. There is no mail delivery by the Esopus Post Office but the department has 135 postal boxes at its Main Street, Esopus, headquarters.

Son Died in Viet

Mrs. Reilly said she knows of only one other applicant for the job besides herself. She said that she thought that several veterans living in the town might be interested in the job. Mrs. Reilly is also entitled to veteran's preference on the Civil Service examination. The Reilly's son, James R., 20, a Marine Corps private first class, was killed in Viet Nam, March 17.

Man, 100, Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Charles Fass, a native of Berlin, Germany, and a former Buffalo businessman, is dead at the age of 100.

Mrs. Reilly said that the Civil Service Commission has not announced a date for the test yet.

Persons applying must be between the ages of 18 and 70 with at least a year's residency in the town prior to the closing date of the examination. They must also have a year's experience in the postal department. Education above high school may be substituted for six months of experience.

Applicants must take a written test and those who pass will be assigned a final rating on the basis of the test and their experience.

Blaze Destroys Summer Home

A summer home on Lyons Road, Town of Gardiner, owned by a New York area family, was destroyed by fire early today.

Fire Chief Thomas Upright of Gardiner responded to an alarm with three trucks at 12:41 a. m., and when firemen arrived they found the frame building completely involved in flames.

The origin of the blaze was not immediately determined and no injuries were reported. The fire units returned to their station at about 3:30 a. m., a department spokesman said.

Can't something be done about nuisance telephone calls from salesmen?

Yes.

There are things you can do, and things we are doing.

Most salespeople who use the phone are anxious to please you. But an aggressive telephone solicitor with a "pushy" sales pitch can be a real nuisance. We're concerned about the inconvenience and irritation such calls may cause you, and we're trying hard to eliminate them. But if you should receive such a call

Here's what you can do:

The best way to handle a nuisance sales call is politely, but firmly, to refuse the offer and hang up.

In a persistent case, ask for the salesman's name and company and report him to his firm. Reputable companies know it's bad business to annoy or mislead potential customers.

If you feel a call is unethical or offensive, call your telephone business office. Or report the incident to your local Chamber of Commerce.

Here's what we are doing:

When we're told about firms that have unethical or offensive sales practices, we call or visit them and review the complaint.

We meet with industry associations and discuss the proper use of the telephone. This includes keeping telephone selling free from deception and pressure, calling at the prospect's convenience, using only specially trained people, emphasizing good telephone manners and calling only bona fide prospects.

We are conducting a public-information campaign to eliminate undesirable practices.

We are required by law to provide telephone service for any legal purpose. Selling by telephone is legal, and, when properly conducted, is a mutually beneficial way to conduct business with customers. But, like many other things, it is subject to misuse. You should be protected against such misuse, and we are doing our best to see that you are.

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I was hurt in a car accident and was compensated for my injuries by an insurance company. Is that money taxable?

A—Damages for injuries suffered in an accident are tax free.

Q—I rent a car for business use. Can I use the mileage rate for expenses instead of adding up the rental fees?

A—On a rental car, use the rental expenses plus what you pay for tolls, parking fees and gasoline and oil as the expense figure. These costs, when incurred for business purposes, are deductible to the extent they are not reimbursed by your employer.

Must Be Allocated

If a rental car is also driven for personal or family use then the costs have to be allocated between business and personal use. In this case, only the business portion of the expenses qualify as a tax deduction.

Q—I understand that farmers can now take gas tax refunds as a credit against income tax. Can this credit just be taken on gas used in 1966?

A—The credit can be taken for a period stretching back to July 1, 1965, on the return filed for the first tax year beginning after June 30, 1965.

For most taxpayers, this will be the return filed for calendar year 1966. Be sure to file your tax return on time however. The credit is lost if the return is late.

Q—Do you have to support a person all year to be able to claim his or her dependency exemption? My mother moved in with us several months ago and I have been providing her full support ever since.

A—The support test is not concerned with how long you have supported a person but whether you provided more than half the support required by the person for the calendar year. If you provided this support for your mother and the other tests are met, then you may claim her as a dependent.

Q—My wife is taking a part-time job for the holidays. If she files her own return to get a refund of her withheld taxes can I still claim her exemption?

A—No you may not. A wife is not considered her husband's dependent. When a husband or wife files a separate return the other must file separately too. In this case, neither is permitted to claim exemptions, expenses or deductions of the other.

File Jointly

If your wife receives only a small amount of money from her job it would probably be to your advantage to file a joint return. Compute your tax both ways to see which is best in your situation.

Q—How do you handle a year end taxable dividend on stock. Do you report it the year declared or the year received?

A—Report it in the year it is constructively received. This means that if you received the dividend or had it credited to your account in 1966, then it must be reported on your 1966 return.

Q—I'm considering a job being offered me in Europe. If I take it will my salary be subject to U. S. Tax?

A—Your salary is taxable if you take a job with the U. S. government overseas. You may be entitled to exclude all or part of your income from U. S. tax if you work for a private concern overseas.

The IRS booklet, "Tax Guide For U. S. Citizens Abroad," explains this subject in detail. Drop a post card to your district office asking for a free copy.

Expect Rail Merger Possibly by March 1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The board chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad says the PRR and New York Central Railroad will be merged "at a fairly early date"—possibly March 1.

The prediction was made Monday night by Stuart T. Saunders at a news conference prior to a dinner gathering of the Greater Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Saunders said the question is "not whether but when the merger will become effective," adding that the Justice Department "does not quarrel with the merits of the Penn Central merger proposal."

The U. S. Supreme Court has issued a restraining order against the merger pending a hearing scheduled for January.

Saunders accused the Norfolk & Western Railway, one of the PRR's chief competitors, of leading a campaign which would seriously harm the merger, saying the N&W stands to gain a great deal by holding the merger back by legal moves.

Health for All

It's That Time of Year

Gaudy red birds perching and darting, tree branches spreading, green leaves tilting and swaying. And over all an air of festive gaiety and warmth that brings back happy memories of many Christmas seasons past.

Maybe you recognize the picture: a word picture of the colorful Christmas Seals that are already appearing on letters and parcels, and soon will festoon millions of pieces of mail every day.

Christmas Seals have been carrying their message of better health for sixty years, with color and design that seem to get more eye-pleasing year by year. Each year's choice is the result of a competition in which hundreds of artists across the nation engage. Nice to have messages of health delivered in ways that brighten the landscape.

All this and better health too? Yes, Virginia, Christmas Seals aren't there just to make your mail looks prettier. They help such things as the struggle to get rid of TB, the fight against air pollution, the search for ways to fight the common cold, and the Christmas Seal association's program to combat that serious lung disease with the unpronounceable name — emphysema (Em-fi-Zee-ma). It's more than a slogan — it's a literal fact — that "Christmas Seals fight tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases."

The 1966 Christmas Seal Campaign is now under way. Its success will insure the continuance of a widespread struggle for respiratory health. Answer your Christmas Seal letter today. If it hasn't reached you, phone or write your Christmas Seal association and find out why.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., 124 Green Street.

Halt Teachers Boycott In Berkeley Rift When Dismissal Threatened

By LEIF ERICKSON
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California's classroom boycott was called off Tuesday night after regents threatened to fire any faculty members who strike in the future.

Tiny Droplets

Their tiny Aeronca down at Honolulu Airport, which also was used by the Army Air Corps at Hickam Field. They dodged bullets as the Japanese began strafing, and made it to cover inside a hangar.

"The people there hadn't realized even then that it was the Japanese," Vitousek said.

Though one of the airport employees was dead, the others thought he'd been killed by an American plane whose pilot had foretold to empty its guns.

At Hickam, Pvt. Frank Frucci of Niles, Mich., was waiting for his buddy, Bernard Cullinane of Kalamazoo. He looked at his watch.

"Bernie, it's five before eight. If we're going to make it to Mass, we'd better hurry," said Frucci, peering through a barracks window to see what all the noise was about.

War Games?

At the same time, Pfc. Gabriel Christie of Brooklyn, N.Y., snatched a baseball into a glove and hunk around outside the same barracks waiting for friends. Hearing an explosion, he thought: "Heck, the Navy's working at war games on a Sunday."

In a few seconds, Hickam Field was also to feel the fury of the Japanese attackers. More than 200 Army Air Corps men, some of them buddies of Frucci and Christie, were killed and more than 350 were injured as the attack immobilized the grounded U.S. planes. Hickam is adjacent to Pearl Harbor and was a prime target that day.

Still Working

Christie, a master sergeant awaiting retirement, is working in the same barracks building 25 years later. It is now headquarters of the Pacific Air Forces. Cullinane died at his home last March.

Frucci is one of almost 3,000 Pearl Harbor survivors and relatives of the dead who are in Hawaii for memorial services, scheduled to begin at precisely 7:55 a.m. today at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, and at sunset at the Arizona Memorial.

"All we want to do," said Lindsey of his fellow association members, "is remember Pearl Harbor...and our men who were killed. This is not just a trip to Hawaii for these men. There will be a lot of tears shed Wednesday (and yours truly is not excluded)."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied vigorously in active trading early this afternoon. The rise was a resumption of the brisk advance that began Tuesday.

Brokers said the chance of a continuation of the rally was helped by upward pressure on basic metal prices and a down-draft on interest rates.

Motors, rubbers, mail order-retails, chemicals, airlines and drugs led the advance.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained 14 to 294.3 with industrials up 2.5, rails up 6 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 9.25 at 806.68.

A block of 487,500 shares of Alcan was traded at 26½ up ½. The New York Stock Exchange said it was the largest block ever handled on the Big Board trading floor in number of shares, surpassing the previous record, 396,000 shares of Sperry Rand traded Sept. 6, 1963.

Alcan later rose to 27½ up 1½. Aircrafts and electronics turned mixed after having been mostly higher in early trading.

Boeing advanced a point and General Dynamics declined a point. Zenith gained about a point.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied vigorously in active trading early this afternoon. The rise was a resumption of the brisk advance that began Tuesday.

Brokers said the chance of a continuation of the rally was helped by upward pressure on basic metal prices and a down-draft on interest rates.

The market was higher at the start in the heaviest trading of the week and prices steadily improved.

Motors, rubbers, mail order-retails, chemicals, airlines and drugs led the advance.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained 14 to 294.3 with industrials up 2.5, rails up 6 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 9.25 at 806.68.

A block of 487,500 shares of Alcan was traded at 26½ up ½. The New York Stock Exchange said it was the largest block ever handled on the Big Board trading floor in number of shares, surpassing the previous record, 396,000 shares of Sperry Rand traded Sept. 6, 1963.

Alcan later rose to 27½ up 1½. Aircrafts and electronics turned mixed after having been mostly higher in early trading.

No Apology: Haver Answer Majestic Says . . .

"It is quite obvious that I am not in a position to engage in any running battle with the Congressman's publicity staff. I shall answer his 'letter' which I have not yet received and consider the incident closed.

The following is a copy of Haver's letter to the congressman:

December 7, 1966
Congressman Joseph Resnick
Kingston
New York

Dear Congressman Resnick:
In reply to your letter, I am sorry to hear that you were disappointed, December 6th, and which I have not yet received. I am pleased to put before the public some pertinent information concerning the Luni case.

I want to say, most emphatically, that not only do I refuse to tender an apology to you but that I do not owe you an apology. I have what I believe to be perfectly reliable information that Mr. and Mrs. Luni, their daughter, Albert, and Beth were at the Grand Hotel until at least one a. m., Wednesday November 9th. My informant talked with Mr. Luni and Albert before they left the premises. It is my information that this was after 1 a. m. and that about an hour later, you were being assisted from the premises.

Congressman Resnick, obviously, your statement that the Lunis left the Grand before you appeared is an unmitigated lie and is made in a blatant attempt to mislead and deceive the public. Your further statement that I can sue you for libel is also incorrect, as you undoubtedly know. Under the Court decisions regarding statements by public officials, the official has a qualified immunity.

I am most willing to stake my reputation for truth and veracity against yours, in the forum of public opinion.

Now, let us turn to the business at hand. You base your answer on another obvious and deliberate lie. You claim "Neither you, nor Mr. Fitzsimmons, nor Mr. Dye (Town of Kingston supervisor Douglas Dye) have provided one good reason why this happy, healthy and well adjusted child should be taken away from her home and parents and why the Lunis should not be permitted to adopt her."

To the contrary, Commissioner Fitzsimmons has publicly stated that his decision was based on medical opinion which he received from a highly qualified expert. And now quote from the official court record appearing in the Official Court report "Matter of Fitzsimmons vs. Luni, 11 Miscellaneous Reports, page 96." These reports are available in any public law library. This report states that the child in question was born with a clearly visible skin blemish on her left temple, to some extent disfiguring. Dr. Bartholomew Dutto, a respected local physician, at first thought that plastic surgery might be necessary to repair this defect and that it would be better to keep the child until the Welfare Department could assume the financial responsibility for this surgery, since once the Department released the child to adoptive parents, it could no longer control whether such surgery should or should not be performed.

Finally, in February, 1966, Dr. Dutto advised the Department that the birth defect had receded to point where the child would be acceptable for adoption. The Department immediately made arrangements for the child to be evaluated by the Albany Child Guidance Center, affiliated with Albany Medical Center, to ascertain her readiness and fitness for adoption. The child was seen by Dr. Lenore M. Sportsman, Director of the Child Guidance Center on February 17th and she promptly reported to the Commissioner. Her report, in part, reads, "From the history of the boarding mother's (Mrs. Luni) emotional difficulties, we suggest that plans for permanent placement be initiated promptly, giving appropriate consideration to the boarding mother's vulnerability. It would be well to emphasize to the boarding father (Mr. Luni) the hazard to his wife's mental welfare if this ambiguous relationship is continued indefinitely. Certainly, he should be helped to see that extended requirements of rearing another child, not yet school age, is likely to impose too great stress on his wife during . . . this period of her life, which is difficult for most women and may prove somewhat overwhelming to her. This in no way suggests that we are unmindful of the problems which may arise both for child and mother as separation is proposed and effected."

Acting on this report, Commissioner Fitzsimmons advised the Lunis that an adoptive home had been provided for the child and shortly thereafter the Lunis requested a meeting at which they stated they wished to adopt the child. They were informed that their request could not be approved.

The main reasons for the decision were: "(1) they were too old. Mr. and Mrs. Luni are both 48 years of age and it was not single reason has been provided for adoptive parents who were beyond child bearing years; (2) that Mrs. Luni was not physically able to take the care and responsibility of a young child at this time in view of her then recent hospital stay and emotional difficulties . . . during this period of her life."

In view of this state of the record which is known to you and your staff, it is unbelievable that you can state that not one single reason has been provided for the decision of the Commissioner. Evidently you subscribe to that school of thought that believes in repeating the big lie often enough and the public will be convinced it is true!

I am advised that Commissioner Fitzsimmons and representatives of the Ulster County Welfare Department conferred with State Commissioner Wyman on Monday, November 7th. Present at the conference in Albany, were Miss Elizabeth Russell, Area 5 representative of the State Welfare Department; Mrs. Maureen Gray, Child Welfare Supervisor of the Ulster County Welfare Department and Mrs. Helen McCord, Adoptive Home Finder for the Welfare Department.

At this meeting Chief Counsel Enfausto and Mrs. Adams, State Welfare Department Adoptive Supervisor were present, as well as several other employees of the State Welfare Department.

The testimony taken before Family Court Judge Elwyn was reviewed and Judge Elwyn's decision was also discussed and Commissioner Fitzsimmons was advised that he could not have handled the case any differently. He was advised that he had done nothing wrong and that it was unfortunate that the case had received much unfavorable publicity.

At not time during this conference, was there any indication that Commissioner Fitzsimmons or the Ulster County Welfare Department had acted improperly or had not acted in the best interests of the child.

I feel it is time for the public to know that the Commissioner is a humane, conscientious public official who acted in what he believed to be the best interests of this child. The decision that he reached was not his personal decision or wish. He acted upon expert opinion given by a qualified and unbiased Doctor and as any other conscientious official would have been required to act. I have yet to hear one improper motive attributed to him by anyone who has full knowledge of all the facts.

As for your motives, let me make this observation. It is a well known fact that the Lunis first contacted your office in August, 1966. But, even though your aid was sought in August, you never saw fit to take any action until shortly before election when you felt you could make political capital of this case and reap some additional votes. It is quite obvious that you acted from political motives and not from a genuine interest in this child's welfare or future.

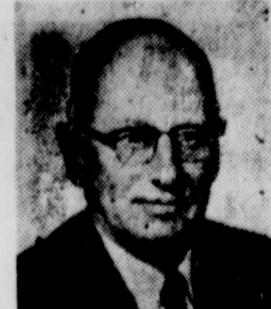

Congressman, you have intemperately and without reason demanded the disbarment of County Attorney Molyneux and his assistant, Richard Griggs, who handled this case in Family Court for the Welfare Department. This demand was made more than two weeks ago but up until the present time you have not made any complaint to the Ulster Bar Association. You know that you had no basis for this unjustified demand. In making this statement you imputed improper and unethical conduct by these attorneys and maliciously sought to damage them in the eyes of the public. While we are talking about apologies, I would suggest that common decency mandates your apology to these attorneys for your highly improper and prejudicial demand. Each of these attorneys has acted in accordance with his oath to properly perform the duties of his office.

If you have any proof to the contrary, submit it to the Ulster County Bar Association or the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court at once. If not, make your public apology to these gentlemen.

Woman Should Trust
Her Own Judgment

Q) "Will you please give me your opinion of Technicolor on the American Stock Exchange. My broker is urging me to get some. He says it is a good buy at its present list price. My list consists of General Motors, General Telephone, W. R. Grace, Stauffer Chemical, Standard Oil of N. J., Pacific Lighting, and U. S. Steel. I am a woman who has accumulated these stocks over many years and they have done well by me. I have never before bought a cheap stock like this."

A) Nor should you start doing so now, in my opinion. I believe your broker is ill-advised to urge you, with your list of stocks, to take on a low-priced speculative situation. Technicolor's earnings, in the 39 weeks ended last Sept. 24, were off 40 per cent to 66 cents a share. The November dividend was cut almost in half to ten cents a share. The stock should be held only in risk accounts and even for these the outlook does not seem too promising. I advise you to ignore your broker's urgency and trust your own judgement which appears to be pretty sound.

Q) "Can you help me to select a good bond? I am told that these obligations offer good security and yield and less downside fluctuation than common stocks."

A) You have been correctly informed. Good bonds are the safest of all securities, and they now sell around their best yield levels in 40 years. They may work lower in price if money rates continue to harden, but they seem safe from further important decline. I advise you to buy good quality, a high coupon rate and call protection for a reasonable period. I suggest Southern California Edison 1st 6½s of 1991, rated AA, yielding 5.86 per cent and non-redeemable as a whole before 1971. When you buy a bond, you must remember that you get good fixed income but no protection at all against inflation.

From its stationary orbit, ATS would be able to photograph one-third of the earth on a continuing basis—providing meteorologists with a record of the birth and movement of major storm systems.

Ground stations in Australia, Japan and the United States planned to swap voice, radio and television communications through the satellite, using frequencies not tried on earlier communications satellites.

Seek Increase Of Interest Rate For Mortgages

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Joint Legislative Committee on Banking Laws was considering today a plea for increased interest rates on first mortgage loans.

The request that the present six per cent ceiling be lifted was made Tuesday, the first day of a two-day hearing that the committee is holding here.

William H. Bodine, president of the Savings Association League, said the state was "clinging to antiquated interest-rate structure."

Bodine said the present rate resulted in diversion of savings to other states where higher interest is available for first-mortgage loans.

The banking executive held that savings institutions must offer up to five per cent interest to attract customers and that it costs at least 6½ per cent to operate.

Thus, he said, the six per cent ceiling was unrealistic. He said the association was in favor of raising the interest rate to at least 8 per cent "or establishing a flexible interest-rate system to reflect market conditions."

Lester J. Norcross, president of the Syracuse Savings Bank, also asked that an agency be given the power to adjust interest rates to prevailing conditions.

About 60 banking executives appeared during Tuesday's session.

Kin of Store Magnate Is Found Dead in Gotham

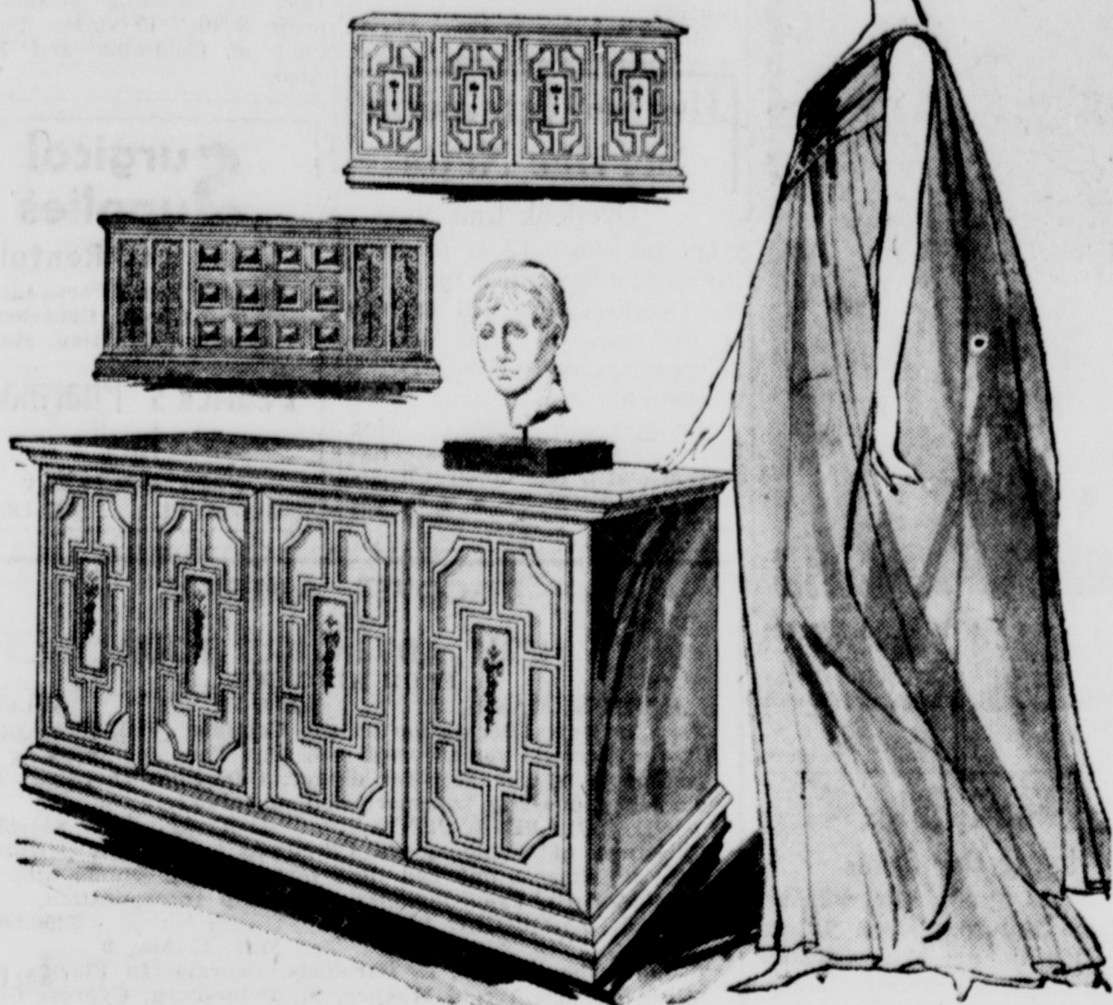

NEW YORK (AP) — James (Jimmy) Donahue, grandson of the late dime store magnate Frank W. Woolworth, was found dead Tuesday in the apartment of his mother on swank Fifth Avenue. Police said he died of natural causes.

Police said Donahue, 53, was found lying in bed by his mother, Mrs. James P. Donahue. A doctor from the Lenox Hill Hospital pronounced him dead. Police said his body has been released to the family.

Donahue was a cousin of another Woolworth heir, Barbara Hutton. He maintained a mansion on a 100-acre estate off Cedar Swamp Road in Old Brookville, Long Island.

Donahue, long a patron of the arts, gave $100,000 in 1960 for the new Metropolitan Opera House in Lincoln Center. He was a former president of the New York Foundling Hospital.

In October 1964, while he was on an extended holiday in Greece, thieves broke into his Long Island mansion and carted off $100,000 in antique art treasures.

How the Race Was Won

Students at Dutchess Community College are getting first-hand reports of what goes into the organization of a political campaign. Today they heard about the Hamilton Fish strategy, and Friday they will learn of Joseph Resnick's political battle plans.

For his course in Principles of American Government, I. Jack Lippman, associate professor of history, has arranged presentations by John Barry, Fish's campaign manager, and by John Logan, a member of Resnick's team.

Both speakers agreed to discuss the "ingredients of campaigning" and to answer questions from the students.

WINTER VACATIONS DRAW NEAR, LEAVE YOUR HOME IN ORDER

The time for winter vacation trips is rapidly approaching. You will enjoy your holiday much more if you know things are well taken care of at home. If you can answer "yes" to all the following questions, you will know you have done everything possible to keep things in order until your return. Cut out this quiz and keep it for a "check list" to consult before you go away.

Have you cancelled your milk and newspaper delivery?

Have you asked the post office to hold your mail, or requested that they forward it?

Have you arranged to have laundry and cleaning delivered before you leave so that clothes will not be left hanging by the door for days or weeks?

Have you checked locks on all doors and windows? And have you a key in the pocketbook you plan to carry?

Have you notified police that you will be away and asked them to check the house frequently?

Have you arranged for someone to care for (a) pets and (b) plants?

Have you checked your luggage to be sure it is adequate and in good condition?

Have you made absolutely certain that your travel documents are current and in order?

Have you had all required and recommended inoculations?

If you plan to have a cleaning woman or workman enter the house while you are away, have you (a) made arrangements for their entry, and (b) told police or neighbors so that they will not be arrested?

Have you left your address with several people — relatives, a secretary, close friends?

Have you exchanged a small amount of money for the currency of the country you plan to visit so that you will have something for tips, taxis, etc. when you arrive?

Do you have your tickets in something which cannot possibly be left behind?

Haydn's 'Creation' Performed by Hudson Valley Philharmonic Is Termed Superior

Theorator, "The Creation" conducted by the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society's Claude Monteux on Sunday, December 4, at the Poughkeepsie High School Auditorium, was a superlative performance by both the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra and the Community Mixed Chorus. The performance, presented before a near capacity audience was introduced by the Community Mixed Chorus, directed by Albert G. Hunter Jr. and soprano soloist Joan Mey; tenor, Martin Lies; and bass, William Fleck and the solo quartet of Dolores Beck, soprano, Ethel Cass, alto, Donald Taylor, tenor, Stanley Bloomer, bass.

With the cueing of the baton by Director Monteux, William Fleck as Raphael soloed "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth; and the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep." Concluding Part I of the oratorio, the chorus held the audience in complete enrapture with "The heavens are telling the glory of God, The wonder of His work displays the firmament." At this point, before the concert intermission, the audience in its appreciative applause requested the soloist and the director to re-appear for four curtain calls.

Following the intermission and introducing Part III, Joan Mey as Gabriel soloed "And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl may fly above the earth: in the open firmament of heaven." The soloist, chorus, and orchestra continued this musical wonderment of the creation of the earth and the celestial bodies; the creation of animals and birds, and man; and the third part of the oratorio man and woman unite with the angels in the heavenly hosts in the praise of God. The inspired quartet concluded with "Sing the Lord, ye voices all, Magnify His name thro' all creation, Celebrate His power and glory, Let His name resound on high, Praise the Lord, Utter thanks, Jehovah's praise for ever shall endure."

The majesty and eloquence of Haydn's "Creation" had been performed in understanding re-

State Nurses Set Educational Goals

Publication of A Blueprint for the Education of Nurses in New York State has been announced by the New York State Nurses Association. The 12-page report details methods of implementing the American Nurses Association Position Paper on Education in this state.

Approved by the board of directors of the 15,000-member statewide professional association, the blueprint calls for "A realistic acceptance of the need in New York State for planned transition in nursing education without disruption or interruption of vitally-needed nursing services." The document points out that the widely-recognized shortage of professional nursing care is qualitative as well as quantitative, adding that "the apex at which the design culminates is that the nursing needs of the people of New York State will be met by qualified practitioners of nursing."

The extensive program calls for implementation on a "Community" basis, utilizing twelve basic economic divisions of the state outlined by the New York State Department of Commerce. Within each area, a permanent community planning group is to be formed, composed of individuals interested in the fields of education and health services, and with a range of professional, institutional, and community points of view. Guidance and direction is to be provided by The New York State Nurses Association and its eighteen constituent District Nurses Association.

A five-year intensive period of transitional activity is called for, planning for transfer of all programs in nursing education to institutions of higher learning. This, and provisions for both associate degree level nursing education and baccalaureate degree professional education, follow the ANA recommendations for national progress.

Priority under the plan will be given to the needs for more teachers, supervisors, administrators and professional practitioners of nursing, through the strengthening and expansion of bachelor's degree programs in nursing, the report states.

"Based on estimates of projected needs, the ratio (will) be increased by 1976 from the current 14 per cent of nurses prepared annually at the professional (B.S. degree) level and 86 per cent at the technical level to 30 per cent at the professional level and 70 per cent at the technical level," the report notes.

Special efforts are called for to assist graduates of hospital three-year diploma programs in nursing and two-year associate degree programs to continue their education toward a B.S. degree in nursing, and to aid qualified licensed practical nurses in seeking professional preparation in degree-granting programs in nursing. The report outlines specific responsibilities and areas of action for NYSNA, for District Nurses Associations, and for the new community planning groups. It is among the first such state association actions in the nation implementing the American Nurses Association Position Paper on Education, and is believed to be the first to intensively involve community planning groups in the action program.

DAR Guest Speaker Urges Teaching of Loyalty in Children

Regent Mrs. R. R. Empringham presided at the December meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, held Monday night in the Chapter House, decorated for the season by Miss Geraldine Howard.

Immediately following the opening ritual, William Skilling addressed the members, his subject, A Little Bit of America and a Little Bit of Christmas. Quoting Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Daniel Webster and Gordon Cooper, the speaker stressed the value of old-fashioned patriotism and named July 4th, this nation's birthday, as the most important day in America. Terming the Stars and Stripes the symbol of this blessed country, Mr. Skilling felt that it should be displayed more frequently to re-ignite in ourselves and our children greater appreciation of our heritage.

The resolutions chairman Mrs. Walter T. Tremper presented, in Memoriam, for Mrs. Justin U. Schoonmaker recently deceased.

Mrs. Charles Reis reported for Linda Reynolds, the chapter's seven-year-old child at Tamassee DAR School; two dresses, a slip, pajamas, purse, doll and a half-scholarship of $100. A large box of good used clothing was shipped to Kate Duncan Smith DAR School.

The usual gift of $10 was sent to the Children's Home in Kingston in memory of Miss Mary Isabella Forsythe, its founder and the chapter's first regent.

Mrs. Nora Burhans and Mrs. Charlotte Peck mentioned Wiltwyck Chapter's participation in the Community Chest project on Saturday, December 3, and the gift of toys for children of the Cerebral Palsy Clinic.

Members were reminded of the Christmas Tea with guest privilege, to be held Wednesday, Dec. 28, from 3 to 5 p. m. at the Chapter House.

Hostesses for the supper preceding the meeting were Meses James Murphy, Charles Reis, George Swart and Miss Virginia Curtis.

ST. NICK ARRIVES—St. Nicholas concludes his annual ride through uptown Kingston Monday night at the little Dutch house in the Old Dutch Churchyard. In keeping with traditions of the Netherlands, St. Nick and his costumed helpers dispensed candy canes to all the good children who were on hand for the event sponsored by Old Dutch Church for the past 15 years. The Christmas story is read to the family in the house by the "mother" after St. Nicholas makes his appearance. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr)

JUGGLING ACT—Leon Hanna of Kingston High juggles the basketball in second quarter of game against Lourdes last night at the Kate Walton Field House. A. J. Stuns Warriors With Good Speed, Hot Shooting

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

"Impressive" is the only word to use for the Kingston High basketball team as it opened its 1966-67 season with a convincing, 91-70, triumph over Our Lady of Lourdes last night at the Kate Walton Field House. Coach John Gilligan's hoopers treated a sparse crowd to a running and shooting show and shocked the visitors, who couldn't match the rebounding strength and the speed of the home club. The Warriors were in contention for about 10 minutes. After leading by an 18-17 margin at the end of the first period, they fell behind at the start of the second stanza and were down a point, 21-20, with two minutes gone by. At this stage, the roof caved in.

Thoroughbred Head Sees Gloomy Picture

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The president of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations says racing's economic picture "is not good."

E. P. Taylor told the association's annual convention Tuesday that the sport is not getting the most out of television. He said the industry had not been able to derive substantial revenue from the sale of television rights, as had other sports.

Taylor said a proposal was under study for horse racing to sponsor a delayed broadcast of the previous week's top races. The film would be sold on either a national basis or to individual local sponsors.

The Turf Publicists of America presented Taylor, of Toronto, Ont., with the "Big Sportsman's Award."

RVC Gets 63-56 Win

Rondout Valley rallied for 23 points in the fourth period to overtake and beat Fallsburgh, 63-56, yesterday at the winners' court in Stone Ridge.

Coach Chick Meehan's Ganders, warming up for a pivotal UCLASH clash this Friday with Marlboro, trailed by a 43-40 score beginning the final eight minutes. They spurred to a quick lead and reserves saw action in the final minutes.

Doug Doyle rammed 16 points and Pete Kilduff had 15 for the Ganders. Rondout made it a clean sweep with a 42-28 win in the jayvee tussle. John Carl led the winners with 12 markers.

Ribant to Bucs For Don Cardwell

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have acquired pitcher Dennis Ribant from the New York Mets, pulling off their third major trade within a week in an all-out effort to fashion a pennant-winning 1967.

Ribant, a right-hander who was the Mets' top pitcher with an 11-9 mark and 3.21 earned run average, and outfielder Gary Korb came to Pittsburgh Tuesday in exchange for veteran pitcher Don Cardwell and outfielder Don Bosch. Cardwell was 6-6 in 32 games.

"Ribant is the man we wanted," said Pirate general manager Joe L. Brown. "He is one of the fine young pitchers in the league and we are tremendously pleased to get him. He is a good pitcher now and has a chance to be an outstanding one."

Colts Control Boards to Earn Conference Win

Using a decided height advantage to control the backboards, Orange County Community College won a Mid-Hudson Conference game from Ulster Community, 79-68, last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

The Colts moved to a 47-34 halftime lead, held off a second half surge by coach Mike Perry's hoopers and remained in front the rest of the way.

Trailing by those 13 points at halftime, the Senators outscored the winners, 13-1, at the start of the second half and moved to within one point, 48-47. They couldn't get any closer.

Charles Chambers was high scorer for both clubs with 24 points. He had able assistance from Pete Kane (15) and Tim Burns (13).

Ronnie Lindsay, the former KHS star, rimmed 14 points for the Senators. Captain Brad Meyer finished with 13, as did Tom Shaffer.

Ulster is idle until Saturday's road engagement at Adirondack. The Senators are now 2-1 for the season. Orange has a 4-1 mark.

Uneven Garden Baskets No Bar To Rick Barry

By HAL BUCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The rim on one of the baskets at Madison Square Garden is higher than it is on the other one.

The authority for that statement is San Francisco's hot-shooting Rick Barry and the way he was popping baskets through both hoops Tuesday night, he ought to know.

Barry, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer, drilled 47 points home, leading San Francisco to a 126-116 victory over the New York Knicks in the second game of an NBA doubleheader.

In the opener, Boston finally snapped its Detroit hex, ripping the Pistons 130-111 and breaking a three-game losing streak against them. In the only other NBA game played, Philadelphia defeated Chicago 129-119.

Barry scored 22 points in the first half, 20 of them on field goals, as the Warriors raced to 71-55 lead. He made only four field goals in the second half, mostly because of repeated fouling by New York and those different rims.

Philadelphia playing at home, got 31 points from Chamberlain and 21 from Chet Walker for its 23rd victory in 25 starts. It was the seventh straight victory for the 76ers who lead Boston in the Eastern Division by 4½ games.

Hal Greer had 20 for Philadelphia and became the 16th player in NBA history to pass the 12,000-point plateau. Keith Erickson led Chicago with 28.

Spada's, Jack's Take 'Y' Openers

Opening salvos were fired in the YMCA basketball league Tuesday night, with Spada's Sport Shop topping Stone Ridge, 67-60, and Jack's Barber Shop routing Boyle's A.C., 71-47.

Dan Potter paced Jack's with 30 points and Walley Lucas added 16. John Hotelling led the losers with 12 points.

Trailing 31-32 at halftime, Spada's Sport Shop exploded for 45 points in the second half to overcome Stone Ridge.

Kentucky's Beard Fights Against Alcindor Shadow

Associated Press Sports Writer
Low Alcindor of UCLA isn't the only sophomore in college basketball to make an impressive varsity debut. There's also Butch Beard at the University of Louisville.

Beard's debut Saturday night was overshadowed by Alcindor's 56 points as the top-ranked Bruins crushed Southern California 105-80. Beard got 27 as Louisville defeated Georgetown, Ky., 99-81.

Beard, 6-foot-3 and weighing 175 pounds, had the stage all to himself Tuesday night with UCLA and Alcindor awaiting the weekend invasion of the Duke Blue Devils. The soph from Hardinsburg, Ky., demonstrated his opening night performance was no fluke with another, sparkling home court effort.

He tossed in 21 points to again top the Louisville scoring as the Cardinals, fourth-ranked Nationally to UCLA in The Associated Press — poll, whipped Southwestern Louisiana 107-68.

Texas Western, the defending national champions and No. 2 in the AP poll, made it three in a row with an easy 61-30 conquest of East Texas State at El Paso. The Miners played without their star, Bobby Joe Hill, who was suspended indefinitely before the game for disciplinary reasons.

Coach Don Haskins termed the suspension "temporary."

Wake Forest Wins
Wake Forest nipped Virginia Tech 78-75 and Minnesota edged Drake 71-68 in two home court overtime triumphs while on the road Dayton downed Miami of Ohio 80-71 and Princeton beat Villanova 48-37.

Abe Aikins' three-point play in the last 34 seconds gave Hofstra a 71-69 home court victory over Seton Hall. Tom Ringlemann came off the bench and scored three quick baskets to spark Syracuse over Cornell 99-67 in another home court triumph.

In other leading games, all home court victories, San Francisco beat Hardin Simmons 72-61, Southern Methodist edged Oklahoma City 81-78, Baylor downed Centenary 91-73, Auburn overcame Louisiana Tech 88-77, Davidson defeated Furman 84-71, George Washington whipped Richmond 78-68 and New Orleans Loyola rolled over Texas Christian 91-75.

On the road, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia edged Georgetown, D.C., 86-82 and Texas routed Louisiana State 114-78.

Marist Beats Hawks, 77-68; 25 for Brenner

Overcoming an early, 8-3, deficit with a run of 13 straight points, Marist College captured its third straight contest, 77-68, over the Hawks of New Paltz State last night at the Poughkeepsie High School gym.

Coach Ron Petro's quintet never lost the lead after that first half spurt. However, the visitors pulled to within two points in the second half, 34-32, before the winners reeled off three straight field goals.

The Hawks outscored the winners, 30-26, from the field. However, Marist was 25 for 39 from the foul line against an 8 for 20 performance by the losers.

Tony Power, a sharpshooting guard, rimmed 23 points to pace the home five. Big Pete Brenner potted 25 points for New Paltz.

In the frothy contest, Marist breezed to a 75-51 decision.

Coach Doug Sheppard's team is now 1-2 for the season and will be idle until the Siena College tournament later this month.

Cancel Downbeat Adult Cinderella Story From TV

By RONALD THOMSON

LONDON (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corp. today banned a contemptuous Cinderella in a miniskirt and a sex-starved Prince Charming who strangles her at midnight from its Christmas television schedule.

The BBC canceled plans to put on "Almost Cinderella," a version of the fairy tale by playwright Dennis Potter.

"If I can arrange my career so that I never have to write for BBC television again, I intend to do so," said Potter.

"I wanted to bring out the impact of the story on adults. I saw Cinderella as a modern girl in a miniskirt, pretty contemptuous of everything. She doesn't even really want to go to the ball."

"Prince Charming comes out as a somewhat unstable character who has sexual problems because he cannot find satisfaction with other girls. He's a playboy and not a pleasant one."

"The story ends at midnight, and we use the cinematic cliché of Hollywood. Prince Charming, whom we have seen under great emotional stress, begins to strangle Cinderella in a very stylized way as the clock strikes."

"It is part of the mockery of the cliché of love at first sight."

Two weeks ago the BBC warned that a "psychological" version of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" which it will show on Dec. 28 might unsettle children. It will be televised late in the evening.

MUDFLAT ART in the mire of San Francisco Bay resulted in this goggle-eyed creature that appears to wave cheerily at passing motorists near Nimitz Freeway. CAP to Observe 25th Anniversary At Open House

Kingston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol joined with more than 2,300 other CAP units throughout the United States in observing the 25th anniversary of Civil Air Patrol on Dec. 1.

For a quarter-century it's all volunteer force has been flying humanitarian mercy missions, conducting search and rescue efforts and helping to educate the general American public to the role of aviation and its impact upon the nation.

State Parents Night

The Seniors and Cadets of Kingston Composite Squadron will hold a Parents Night at the next regular meeting tonight, Pearl Harbor Day, for this year also marks the 25th anniversary of that unforgettable day.

Col. Joe L. Mason, USAF, CAP national commander, in a congratulatory message to all units said 1966 has been a year of significant achievement in Civil Air Patrol and urged CAP's members to "even greater achievements in 1967." National headquarters of Civil Air Patrol is located at Ellington AFB, Houston, Texas.

An official civilian auxiliary of the United States Air Force, Civil Air Patrol was founded in 1941 by a band of patriotic, air-minded individuals who volunteered their services and their privately owned aircraft to patrol America's coastlines and borders.

Throughout the years of World War II, CAP pilots flew more than 24 million miles on anti-submarine patrol and thousands more miles on sensitive courier missions for the Armed Forces.

Today, CAP carries on the work begun by those pioneers, flying search and rescue missions throughout the nation, cooperating with Civil Defense agencies at all levels of city, county, state and Federal Government in national emergency training, and flying mercy missions in relief of people and communities stricken by floods, hurricanes and other natural disasters.

CAP cadets, boys and girls ranging in age from 13 through 17 years, participate actively in CAP's aerospace education program. CAP senior members operate some 4,055 light aircraft, all but 823 of them privately owned, in flying search and rescue missions, mercy missions and training exercises in support of Civil Defense. Other members operate a 14,742 station radio network, while still others operate and maintain a fleet of 4,500 surface vehicles of all types in logistical and administrative support of CAP's flying missions.

Major Sidney Lane, squadron commander of the local unit, invites all interested persons to attend the Open House at the Kingston State Armory.

Asks Rate Control In Penn-NYC Rail Merger Interim

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small Eastern railroad wants the government to prohibit the Pennsylvania and New York Central lines — which plan to merge — from establishing pre-merger rates or routings that would hurt small Eastern railroads.

The Erie-Lackawanna reminded the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday that the ICC order approving the merger prohibits damaging post-merger rate or route changes.

But the Erie said the prohibition should be retroactive inasmuch as the merger approval is now tied up in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Erie President Gregory W. Maxwell testified that his line could lose up to 2.2 million tons of its 3.5 million ton iron ore traffic if the Pennsylvania and the Central lower their ore transport rates to compete with the Erie.

The ICC hearing deals principally with whether the Penn-Central should reimburse stockholders of the Erie, Boston & Maine, and Delaware & Hudson if capital value of those lines decline due to the Penn-Central merger.

Talking to a newsman later, Maxwell said his line plans to continue long-haul and commuter passenger operations if "we can operate somewhere near the break-even point."

Mother Insists Her Son Repose In Livingroom

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Marine PFC. Donald Miller returns in death today from Viet Nam to spend a final night in the split-level home where he grew up.

Mrs. Anthony Capano, mother of the 19-year-old Marine, said she made the decision to bring the boy home rather than to a funeral parlor.

First Night Home

"He'll spend the first night in the livingroom of our home," Mrs. Capano said. "This is the one last thing I can do for my son and I must do it."

She said she wanted her son, who was killed in Viet Nam Nov. 29, to "be the most important person on the block today."

Mrs. Capano said neighbors who knew her son when he was a small boy often asked her how he was doing in Viet Nam.

"But do you think they'd ask for his address so that they could write to him?" she asked. "No, they didn't. So I guess he's not so important to them after all."

"But I'm bringing Donald right home...right into the parlor. And he will be important to the people on the block. This will be his day. A sad one, but his day."

Room Too Small

Mrs. Capano said one of her other sons tried to talk her out of bringing Donald's body into the house on the grounds the livingroom was too small to accommodate those who might wish to pay their last respects.

"Well," the mother said, "I told them that they could knock out the wall if they needed room. They could do anything. I told them. But my boy was coming home."

Thursday morning the body will be taken from the Capano home to a funeral parlor where it will lie in state until the funeral Friday morning.

Mrs. Capano recalled how her son had written to her months ago asking that she send letters and packages to some of the men in his outfit who seldom receive mail.

She said she already had sent about 60 packages when she received word of her son's death.

"I still have about 200 Christmas cards here, all ready to go to my son's commanding officer asking him to distribute them to the fellows who don't get any mail," Mrs. Capano explained.

CHANGE OF HANDS—Seemingly not the least bit unhappy about his partial retirement from the real estate business, A. P-TA Schedules Month's Program On Audio Visual

Would you like to know your children's learning can be improved with the use of Audio Visual Aids? The Dec. 8 meeting of the Woodstock P-TA will enlighten you on their use.

Instructional teaching aids are becoming more important in teaching and learning. We are in an age of visual communication and cannot ignore it, the P-TA feels.

Frank Hancock, speaker for the program, is a teacher in the Woodstock School. He has taken graduate courses in audio visual media and teaches Social Studies in grades five and six. He has a B.A. from the University of New Hampshire, and has also taken graduate studies from that same university, New Paltz, Plymouth and Keene Teacher's Colleges. Previously, he has been Elementary Coordinator and an Audio Visual Coordinator. Hancock lives in West Hurley with his wife, Virginia and three children.

Miss Beth Hague, school librarian, will also speak about the instructional program for the upper grades, and the K-3 fictional reading program that is held in the library. Miss Hague received her bachelor and masters degrees at Albany State Teacher's College. She lives in Tannersville.

Names Omitted

The names of three students were inadvertently omitted from a recent release in this column which listed those pupils at Ontario Central High School who had attained Honor Roll standing. The following names should have appeared on the Ninth Grade Honor Roll: Maureen Ryan, Elizabeth Warneke and Joan Webster.

WMHT Channel 17 will not be seen on Cable Channel 10 temporarily due to damage to an amplifier in the cable system. A new unit has been ordered and will be placed in service as soon as received.

Work on Tanker Showing Progress

Work on the second tank truck being constructed by members of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 of Lake Hill is progressing, according to Captain Alfred Ostrander.

The truck, when completed, will carry 1,000 gallons of water, be equipped with a four-inch dump valve in addition to the regular 2 1/2 inch connections, carry the company's portable generator, 1,000 gallon portable tank, fire rakes and brooms, suction hose, additional fire hose, portable lights, stretcher and other fire equipment.

The tank truck has been constructed upon a Ford chassis, donated to the company. Mechanical work, welding, tire changes and work on compartments underneath the running board along the tank has been underway for many months.

Captain Alfred Ostrander, H. Phillips Elghmey, Louis Kolbe and fire company president Walter Stone have been in charge of the work, with members of the company utilizing many hours working upon the new tanker.

A father said to his daughter, Mr. Smith—Your young man approached me and asked for my hand and I consented.
Mother—But, Father, I don't want to leave Mother.
Mr. Smith—I quite understand, Child. Don't let me stand in the way of your happiness—be your mother with you.

A visitor to New Mexico was talking to a sun-browned native and commented on the lack of rain.

"TURN THE TABLES"

Mr. Jones—Doesn't it ever rain here?
The native thought a minute and said,
Pete (the native)—Mister, do you remember the story of Noah and the ark, and how it rained 40 days and 40 nights?
Mr. Jones—Sure I do.
Pete—Well, we got half an inch that time.

Second Manufacturer—Honestly did—I'll show you the cancellation.

QUESTION: When a fire starts from overloaded electrical circuits and is the fault of the home-owner, does the insurance company still pay for the loss?

ANSWER: Yes, the company will pay but we'd still advise against overloading circuits — especially in cold weather. You might get a little chilly before your home was repaired or rebuilt.

'Snow Bowl' Is Losing Mantle In Warmer Air

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Weather Bureau says that continued warm weather will further reduce the effects of last week's snowstorm in western and northern New York.

The Bureau said the warming trend that saw temperatures reach into the 40s Tuesday after being near zero Sunday could be expected to last into tonight.

The warm weather, coupled with little wind, aided in clearing up roads plugged by up to 54 inches of snow, and the higher temperatures also cut into the accumulations of snow.

At Mayville, where 54 inches piled up early Sunday, only about 24 inches remained on the ground Tuesday. Mayville is about 50 miles southwest of Buffalo.

In the "snow bowl" area around Adams, east of Lake Ontario between Syracuse and Watertown, a 48-inch accumulation had dwindled to 12 inches by Tuesday. Copenhagen, a Lewis County hamlet east of Adams, was virtually snow-free, although it had measured almost three feet of snow last Sunday.

Jewish Festival Begins Tonight

Chanukah, the Festival of Dedication, also known as the Festival of Lights, and the Festival of the Maccabees, will begin tonight, for all the Jewish people over the world. The first of the Chanukah lights will be kindled tonight, and each night after an additional light will be lit until eight lights on the eighth night.

Amid songs and merrymaking, prayers are said over the lighting of the lights, and gifts are distributed to children and friends.

Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman, of Congregation Ahavath Israel, explained the reason for this celebration. The celebration of Chanukah begins on the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev, the day on which the Temple was dedicated anew to the service of God, following the Maccabean victory. The festival lasts for eight days because of a miracle which is said to have occurred during the rededication. When the Eternal Light was about to be lit, there was found only one cruse of undefiled oil for the needs of a solitary day, but it lasted for eight days.

Parties and entertaining celebrations are held in homes and synagogues, the symbolic food, latkes, are eaten, and gifts are distributed.

At Congregation Ahavath Israel, the Friday evening services during this week of Chanukah, will be conducted entirely by the children of the Hebrew School. On Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. a Chanukah party and entertainment will be held for the children in the synagogue. On Sunday evening the USY, the youth club of the congregation will hold a Chanukah party and social. The Sisterhood will run a carnival on the Saturday night after Chanukah.

feated the overwhelming Syrian legions. After a brilliant victory he regained possession of Jerusalem and proceeded to rededicate the Temple which the Syrians had polluted with their heathen ceremonies.

To rededicate the Temple, the Eternal Light had to be lit, but only one cruse of oil was found that could be used. This one day's supply burned for eight days, and this miracle is commemorated by the lighting of lights for eight days.

At Munds Park, south of Flagstaff, nine inches of rain have fallen since Sunday, and Flagstaff reported almost four inches. A flood alert was issued for the upper Verde and upper Tonopah basins east of Prescott, Ariz.

Rain began falling in New Mexico and snow fell in the mountains of Colorado, already covered with heavy snowfall, were out in that area.

Southern California and the south San Joaquin Valley suffered heavily in the coastal downpours, up to 19 inches in a 27-hour period.

Elsewhere, rain fell along the southeast Florida Coast, and from the central Gulf and lower Missouri Valley to the eastern Great Lakes. Cold wave warnings remained in effect overnight for north central and extreme northwest Minnesota.

One Killed, 13 Hurt as Chicago Train Plunges

CHICAGO (AP) — An elevated train ran off the rails during a rainstorm today and one of its eight cars plunged 30 feet to the ground, killing one person. Thirteen persons were injured.

Another car was left hanging, one end attached to the train, the other resting on the ground. The accident occurred near the Chicago Transit Authority station at 41st Street and Indiana Avenue on the South Side.

CTA officials said the cause of the crash had not been determined. The train was carrying a light passenger load because during the morning rush hour the heavy travel on this CTA division runs from the South Side north toward the downtown business district.

To Face Charges On Possession of Stolen Property

Two Brooklyn men are scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Abram D. Smith, Town of Rochester, on Dec. 14 to face charges of receiving and possessing stolen property, according to Ellenville State Police.

Joseph Peter Morello, 26, and Carl Vella, 32, were arrested Monday afternoon by BCI Investigator Michael Bonney and Troopers Francis Steiner and D. H. Dymond.

Troopers investigated a complaint from George Barnes, of Oak Ridge, and took Morello and Vella in custody on charges of trespassing. Both men were fined $10 after they appeared before Judge Smith.

According to troopers, an umbrella found in the trunk of Morello's car was identified as belonging to the Barnes family. The second charge accused the men of receiving and possessing the umbrella.

Committed to the county jail after arraignment, Morello and Vella later were released in $500 bail each and hearing was set for next Wednesday.

Translate, Please

DETROIT (AP) — Councilman Mel Ravitz asked for a translator.

He took up a letter Tuesday from Philip J. Rutledge, director of the Total Action against Poverty program, which asked Common Council to accept a $46,134 federal grant for TAP use.

"The purpose of the program is to develop an analytical structure which will permit the optimum allocation of limited funds among the many possible components of a war on poverty," the letter read.

It described a "client profile analysis system," and the "feedback mechanism" for each poverty program. It said such adjustments will lead to the optimum program mix.

Ravitz said the council would accept the grant on the condition that someone explain what it is for.

No State Complies Yet

More Proposals Due On Highway Safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — No state now complies with all of the highway safety standards proposed by the federal government — and there are still more to come.

Degree of compliance with the first nine standards suggested for inclusion in state programs by the national highway safety agency varies widely.

Only three states, for example, require motorcycleists to wear crash helmets. But 20 states and the District of Columbia require periodic vehicle inspection.

Will Work Out Details

The nine interim proposals were submitted to the states this week for discussion and study. Details are to be worked out later.

Dr. William Haddon Jr., agency administrator, said he hopes to send all proposed standards to the states by Feb. 2.

States must be implementing a safety program approved by the government by the end of 1968 or face possible loss of their highway safety funds and 10 per cent of their federal road building money.

There was little apparent criticism of the proposed highway safety standards during three meetings the agency held this week with state, county, local and other safety officials.

Most officials seemed more concerned with getting legal details — not yet available — turning proposals into hard legislation, obtaining federal aid and finding out how best to set up their programs.

One proposed standard with which no state can now comply would require comprehensive driver training programs or significant expansion and improvement of existing programs.

The National Education Association said all states have some form of driver education program working through local school districts although programs vary widely.

About 13,000 public high schools — 70 per cent of the nation's total — offer some driver education. About 1.5 million students — half the eligible total — are enrolled.

Both the agency and the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators said no state now requires alcohol tests on bodies of all drivers killed in single-vehicle crashes and of adult pedestrians, another of the proposed standards.
